Germany-Italy Set Terms For Pact On Spain

REICH IS FOR BARS ON ALL INTERFERENCE

Hitler, Accepting British-French Plan to Stop Volunteers, Insists Restrictions Cover All Aid to Spaniards

Reservations Also Voiced by Italy

Associated Press

Berlin, Jan. 7. — Germany, in unison with Italy, accepted a Franco-British proposal for the stoppage of foreign volunteer enlistments for Spain tonight on the condition an all-embracing plan be formulated to prevent all forms of Spanish interference — direct or indirect.

That was described as the tenor of a note delivered to the French and British embassies here shortly after 6 p.m.

Under its terms, the Non-intervention Committee in London would be asked to elaborate such a general scheme for strict control of foreign aid, either to the Spanish government or to the insurgents of General Francisco Franco.

TEXT OF REPLY

The German reply read in part:

"1. The German government must first of all express its unhappy astonishment over the fact that the British and French governments have considered it a necessary parallel with proceedings of the London Non-intervention Committee to address for a second time a special and direct appeal to other governments represented on this committee.

BEFORE COMMITTEE

"The question of prohibiting participation of foreign volunteers in the Spanish fighting, which constitutes the subject matter of this appeal, is now up for deliberation in the London committee.

"It is not evident in what way these deliberations can be furthered by a resort to such diplomatic actions by individual governments.

"If, however, the committee's method of deliberation in the Spanish question is regarded insufficient or inappropriate, then, in the interest of clarity and conformity in the treatment of this question, it would

SPORTS CLUB MEN ON TRIAL

Vancouver Magistrate Hears Case Though He Is Police Commissioner

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—Legal argument in the trial of five alleged executives of the Brunswick Sports Club on a charge of keeping a gaming house will be heard by Police Magistrate H. S. Wood Monday morning, despite objections raised by J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., defence counsel.

Mr. Farris asked that the trial be turned into a preliminary hearing, claiming the magistrate was not "qualified" to hear the case as a summary trial owing to his dual role as magistrate and police commissioner.

In reply, Magistrate Wood said:

"One has a duty as police magistrate or a judge to adjudicate in a proper way. On the other hand, a police commission is a sort of prosecutor because it is his duty to see the law is enforced and proceedings taken.

MUST SUFFER

"There it is; I have to suffer myself if necessary. Sometimes it may be necessary, sitting in the police commission, to have to strongly criticize actions of the police magistrate.

"But in spite of this position, I am bound by duty and law and can not see why I should refuse to try the case."

Those charged as gaming house keepers are T. B. Jones, Robert Mercer, F. A. Jones, N. E. Jones and Richard E. Birch. Eleven other persons, arrested in a police raid on the Brunswick Club premises December 13, were charged with being inmates of a gaming house.

Independent Foresters Ask Ruling Against Alberta's Reduction On Bond

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton, Jan. 7.—The power of the Alberta Government to make arbitrary cuts in interest rates on provincial bonds and bonds guaranteed by the government, was challenged here today in the courts.

An action was filed in the Supreme Court by the Independent Order of Foresters, Toronto, a fraternal organization operating under a Dominion charter and carrying on an insurance business among its members. The order claimed $5,430, full interest rates on $181,000 of Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District bonds guaranteed by the provincial government.

Volunteers Pass Through France

Associated Press

Paris, Jan. 7.—French authorities reported today a small but steady stream of volunteers from many lands was flowing through France to offer their aid to the Spanish government.

Officials at Perpignan said most of the volunteers were French, with some British and the rest of varied nationalities.

Victorians Enjoy Outdoor Skating

Skating enthusiasts of Victoria have been in their element for the last few days, enjoying the delightful exercise on ponds and small lakes. With no snow following the freeze-up there has been splendid ice. Among the best surfaces near the city is Quick's Pond, off the West Saanich Road, where the above happy quartette was snapped yesterday in the middle of a turn around the large pond. From left to right, they are: Jack Cuzner, Mrs. J. G. Thomson, Miss Druscilla O'Neill and J. G. Thomson.

Victoria Mildest Spot in Province

With North Wind Down Victorians Enjoy Exhilarating Weather

Vancouver Shivers and Prairies Dip Way Below Zero

"The worst is past, but I cannot promise anything very mild for a couple of days yet," said W. A. Thorn, superintendent of the Dominion Government Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill, when questioned this morning about the weather for the next few days.

"There will be some cloudiness and perhaps a little dash of snow or rain, but I do not expect anything very much in the way of precipitation," he said.

With the wind from the north down, Victoria's present cold snap assumed a degree of pleasantness today, with a clear blue sky and brilliant sunshine. The atmosphere was decidedly exhilarating and hundreds of people e joyed skating on the shallow ponds and flats in the Burnside and Royal Oak districts. With an absence of wind, homes were easy to heat, and Victorians took a more cheerful outlook of the weather, feeling thankful they were in one of the province's mildest spots.

LOW ON GRASS

Despite the drop in the wind the thermometer went down to thirteen degrees on the grass early this morning and a thick crust of ice formed on the salt water of Inner Harbor.

The minimum temperature at Gonzales was twenty-one degrees—one degree higher than yesterday, but still eleven degrees of frost. Another heavy frost is expected tonight.

The brightness of the stars during the frosty night have been a feature of the present cold wave. Amateur astronomers and the professional ones atop Little Saanich Mountain are enjoying these nights immensely for they provide them with a great opportunity to study the heavens under ideal conditions.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—Shivering British Columbians slammed bedroom windows shut and piled coal in stoves and furnaces this morning as sub-zero weather continued general throughout the province, despite official predictions of "slowly rising temperatures."

Lower mainland and Vancouver Island centres fared best, although humidity made the air seem colder than it was. Wednesday's maximum temperature here was 28 degrees—4 degrees of frost—and the minimum was 16 above.

Streets remained icy in suburban areas after Sunday's sleet and snow, but driving conditions were excellent on city streets and arterial highways.

Interior districts, most affected by a cold wave from Alaska and the Yukon that has reached as far south as the northwest Pacific states, reported sub-zero temperatures. At Kamloops, highest point reached was 2 degrees below zero, the lowest 8 below. Kaslo's warmest period was 12 above, its coldest 5 below. Kelowna temperature varied 10 degrees with a minimum of 1 degree above zero.

At Prince George several families had abandoned their homes north of here as ice formed and forced the Nechako River, a tributary, to spread over its low banks.

E. B. Sherman, Dominion meteorologist here, forecasted "light variable winds, generally fair and slowly rising temperatures."

Winnipeg, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press). —From the Ontario border to the Rockies, across the Prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and most of Alberta, the mercury today skidded to new low records for the winter.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan bore the brunt of the icy wave, Regina and Prince Albert, in northern Saskatchewan, tied for an all-Canada low mark —44 below at 6 a.m. Many other districts, notably Saskatoon, 42, and Brandon 40, marked-up records. Winnipeg held at 26 below.

Drug Addicts In China Seized

Associated Press

Peiping, Jan. 7.—China's long-heralded campaign against narcotic addicts and dealers was launched tonight with police raids on dens of addicts where 100 prisoners were reported seized.

Reliable informants declared the captives, who had failed to obey orders to "be cured by New Year's or die!" would probably be shot Friday.

Peiping is estimated to have an addict population of 100,000.

Seven Policemen Facing Charges

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 7.—Second degree murder indictments charged seven Hot Springs policemen today with "striking, kicking and beating" to death a city jail prisoner.

John Dickson, thirty-two, whose death certificate showed he died of pneumonia Christmas Eve, was the prisoner.

Each was released on $1,500 bond. All denied the charges.

When arrested Dickson was accused of assault to kill and grand larceny. It was charged he attacked the chief of police.

Experts Awaiting Reports, Believe Shocks Centred In East Central Asia

Recorded at Victoria at 5.30 This Morning, Quake Is Said by London Seismologist to Have Shaken One-quarter of the Earth; Victoria Observers Believe Centre Not Far From Langchow, West China

An earthquake of severe intensity was recorded at 5.30 o'clock this morning on the seismograph at the Victoria Observatory. The tremors continued for three hours. The epicentre was 5,715 miles from Victoria, probably in the vicinity of Langchow, China.

Associated Press

London, Jan. 7.—An earthquake, estimated from seismograph needle movements to be almost as forceful as the quake in the Indian Quetta region in which 26,000 persons were killed in May, 1935, was registered in London today.

Experts said the needles moved between six and seven inches. The earthquake was estimated to have occurred approximately 4,770 miles away, apparently either in central Asia or the West Indies.

QUARTER OF WORLD SHAKEN

An official of the Royal Kew Observatory declared that "without any question this was a very large earthquake, one that would shake a quarter of the world."

"Whether or not it was under the sea we cannot say until we have further information," he added.

REGISTERED AT DENVER

Associated Press

Denver, Jan. 7.—Rev. Father A. W. Forestall, seismologist at Regis College here, reported recording of an earthquake "of the first magnitude somewhere outside the North American continent" today.

Father Forestall said his seismograph showed the disturbance started at 6.35 a.m. P.S.T. He did not know the direction.

JULIANA WED AT THE HAGUE

Netherlands Crown Princess Becomes Bride of Prince Lippe-Biesterfeld

By THOMAS HAMILTON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The Hague, Jan. 7.—Crown Princess Juliana became the bride of Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Biesterfeld today amid the rejoicing of 2,000,000 subjects in this land of tulips and windmills.

First at a quaint Town Hall civil ceremony, then in the historic color-splashed Groote Kerk, Juliana and Bernhard pronounced their vows.

Radiant in an ivory satin dress sprinkled with orange blossoms, the princess, who is the sole hope of perpetuating the ancient House of Orange, stood in the centre of a brilliant circle of bridesmaids, their gowns forming a "bouquet" of lilac, orange and blue.

IN MILITARY UNIFORM

The quiet Bernhard, resplendent in the full dress uniform of a captain of the Blue Hussars, became by royal decree coincident with the vows, "His Royal Highness, Prince of the Netherlands."

Dr. H. T. Obbink, pastor of the Netherlands court, told them:

"The eyes of the whole Netherlands, the colonies, of Dutch men throughout the world are fixed on this place. From thousands of hearts prayers are sent to the throne of God that his love and blessing may attend you and all your ways."

CHEERS DURING PROCESSION

Cheers swept across packed streets as the prince and princess started from the royal palace in a golden carriage for the first ceremony, that at the Town Hall, which was followed by the service of the Dutch Reformed Church. The day was cold and cloudy and a high wind whipped the flags around their standards as the procession wound through the ancient capital's narrow streets.

Seating them before a red-covered table in the great wedding room of

POPE PIUS HAS WHEEL CHAIR

Pontiff, Who Rallied After Sinking Spell, Plans to Be Moved

Vatican City, Jan. 7.—Pope Pius XI, refreshed by a relatively good night's sleep, inspected today the specially contructed wheel chair he hoped would bring back a measure of his old activity.

Well-informed circles said the Holy Father was eager to undertake all work his doctor, Professor Aminta Milani, would allow.

The new chair will allow the Pope to sit up, but will keep his afflicted legs straight and immobile.

Reports indicated the Holy Father had rallied from the prostration he suffered yesterday, but there was no appreciable change in his serious condition.

"Sit-down" Strikes In Michigan Reported as Governor Joins Peace Efforts

Associated Press

Detroit, Jan. 7.—A "sit-down" strike in two departments of a Briggs body plant where 2,500 men are employed, and another in a department of a local unit of the Murray Body Company were announced at United Automobile Workers' headquarters today.

The Briggs plant supplies bodies for the Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Company.

SUSPENSIONS ANNOUNCED

Associated Press

Flint, Mich., Jan. 7.—The Chevrolet Motor Company announced today that all of its operations here, and its iron foundry and small parts plants in Saginaw and Bay City, Mich., would be suspended by Friday night. The closing will throw 19,875 additional General Motors employees out of work.

The Chevrolet plant here normally employs 14,575. Of that number, 2,500 have been idle since the assembly line was stopped December 30 because of the strike in Fisher Body Plant No. 2, which supplies it with automobile bodies.

The shutdown will increase to 27,075 the number of General Motors employees idle in Flint. Total General Motors employment here is 46,000.

GOVERNOR IN NEGOTIATIONS

Detroit, Jan. 7.—Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan and James F. Dewey of the United States Department of Labor engaged today in a series of conferences with General Motors Corporation officials and representatives of striking employees to avert the threat of a general strike in the company's automotive division.

Kidnapped Tacoma Boy Still Missing as Cold Weather Sets In, Adding to Fears; "Ad" In Seattle Paper Tells of Identification

Associated Press

Seattle, Dec. 7.—The Seattle Times carried a new advertisement in its personal column today—fourth of a series believed to be from the family of Charles Mattson of Tacoma, to his kidnappers.

It stated: "Mable—I am giving all the notes. Police are not intercepting them. I accept your message of identification. All requests have been carried out. I will do as instructed without any one knowing.—Ann.

WEATHER IS COLD

Associated Press

Tacoma, Jan. 7.—Coldest weather of the winter today alarmed parents of kidnapped Charles Mattson, ten, who feared the boy might be suffering from exposure on the eleventh day of his captivity.

The thermometer sank to 15 above zero here during the night, as the abductor ignored opportunities to return the victim.

Dr. W. W. Mattson, the boy's father and a prominent Tacoma physician and surgeon, was known to be more than unusually apprehensive that Charles, recovering from a cold when seized, December 27, might be seriously affected if he were being kept in an outlying, poorly heated shack.

At the same time it was learned Dr. Mattson had made careful preparations for the boy's care when and if he is freed after payment of at least $28,000 demanded ransom.

Chang's Troops Join in Revolt

Reported 250,000 Men Formerly Led by Marshal Link Up With 50,000 Communists in Shensi and Kansu Areas of China

Associated Press

Sianfu, Shensi Province, China, Jan. 7.—It was reported here today a majority of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's former Manchurian army had joined red troops of Shensi and Kansu provinces in open revolt against the central government.

The reports said 250,000 troops of Marshal Chang's old command had joined forces with an army of 50,000 Communists.

A sudden resurgence of Communistic influence in the past twenty-four hours caused widespread fears Sianfu was doomed to renewed disorders like those of December 12 when Marshal Chang rebelled against the Nanking government and kidnapped Premier Chiang Kai-shek.

ROAMING STREETS

An estimated 65,000 of the troops who took part in the December 12 coup have suddenly become restive gangs, roving leaderless through the streets, intimidating the populace, threatening merchants, looting shops and causing business to come to a standstill with many stores closed.

Officials were uncommunicative, but apprehension was growing that the crisis precipitated by Marshal Chang's revolt—for which he was pardoned after freeing Chiang and giving himself up—was far from ended.

Thousands Ill In U.S. and Britain

Influenza Wave Milder Than One Twenty Years Ago, But Hundreds of Deaths In U.S. Are Reported

Canadian Press

Great Britain and the United States today were in the grip of an influenza epidemic, milder by far than the great death-dealing plague of twenty years ago but sufficient to cause widespread inconvenience and a number of deaths.

Greater London reported one person out of every four affected by the malady that has taken actors from the stage, policemen from their beats, clerks from their counters and athletes from the playing fields.

PNEUMONIA IN U.S.

Unseasonably mild weather was blamed for the malady which, in the United States, was accompanied by an unusually high number of pneumonia cases.

New York city reported 227 deaths through pneumonia last week, with twenty deaths from influenza. Cold weather during the past forty-eight hours appeared to have halted the ravages of the two maladies that have jammed hospitals to overflowing.

Denver, Colorado, reported 20,000 respiratory cases. Cincinnati, Ohio, dispatches said 123 had died in the nearby 548-state area in two weeks.

Programme For Ottawa Session

Varied Subjects, Including Downward Revision of Textile Duties Are Listed

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—With Parliament's opening one week away the government's legislative programme today began to take definite form in the minds of political prognosticators as they pieced together forecasts and information.

The programme was expected to contain:

Legislation designed to protect Canadian debtors under gold-clause bonds against having to pay premiums in legal tender. This was disclosed last Tuesday by Finance Minister Dunning.

TO REPLACE ACTS

Substitute legislation for some of the Bennett government's "new deal" acts, to be produced only if the facts are found unconstitutional by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London.

Enabling legislation to give effect to a new Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty, including downward revision of tariff schedules affecting British textiles.

Legislation designed to improve marketing, at least of primary products.

HOUSING PROBLEM

Legislation designed to facilitate rehousing

Legislation affecting railways.

LOWER TEXTILE DUTIES

Also, unless all signs fail, downward revisions in the textile schedules of the Canadian tariff will be a major development of the session. Lower duties against British woolens and artificial silks are expected and a cut in the imposts on higher grade manufactured cottons from the United States.

Evidence of profits made by some textile firms in Canada submitted in Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon's inquiry as a royal commissioner into the industry is believed to have caused the government to lend an ear to proponents of lower tariffs.

British textile people also urge better treatment in the new trade agreement now being negotiated between Canada and the United Kingdom.

LEAGUE DEBATE

Parliament faces almost certain full-dress debates on this country's participation in affairs of the League of Nations, the government handling of the constitutional crisis and national defence.

If Parliament is to be prorogued by the end of April, in time to permit Canada's official delegation to attend the coronation without the necessity of returning to resume the session, the government must steer through both Houses in three and a half months a legislative programme which generally requires about six months for passage.

There was some speculation whether private members, usually given most of the first month to discuss their views, would voluntarily forego much of that discussion in order to hasten completion of the session.

Barrack beds have been turned alternatively head and foot, at least a yard apart. Gargling before breakfast has become a compulsory regulation

The press continues to aid both by advice and by comic features about the victims designed to keep up good spirts.

RETREAT BY MADRID UNITS

By JEAN ROLLIN
The Havas Correspondent

Madrid, Jan. 7.—Madrid's stubborn defenders today beat a strategic retreat west of the capital in the face of a violent attack by an insurgent army which reportedly included 18,000 German "volunteers."

Ten thousand of the Germans, organized in motorized units, were said to have fought the government militia in suburban Las Rozas. The government claimed an additional 8,000 were concentrated in the University City sector.

General Jose Miaja's defence council claimed the government troops had fallen back on prepared positions following a plan of retreat outlined in advance.

HIGHWAYS HELD

The council emphasized the main defences west and northwest of the capital were unimpaired and the government still commanded the all-important La Corunna and El Escorial Roads linking the capital with the forces in the Guadarrama Mountains.

The violent insurgent artillery fire devasted entire sections of the capital.

Twenty-seven insurgent bombers added to the terror with an intensive bombardment of the suburbs. The government claimed six insurgent planes were shot down.

INSURGENTS' REPORT

Associated Press

With the Insurgent Forces Outside Madrid, Jan. 7.—Spanish insurgents fought their way to the suburbs of Madrid from a new sector today and were reported to have occupied the railroad station and surrounding buildings at Pozuelo de Alarcon, five miles northwest of the capital.

Driving from recently captured Las Rozas on the Madrid-El Escorial highway, the insurgent troops advanced steadily, pushing the capital's defenders along the road before them.

Suddenly at Pozuelo, the insurgent commanders said, Socialist resistance seemed to crumble.

They reported the government militia was evacuating the sector in a long stream of trucks to Tetuan, Madrid's extreme northern district.

STUBBORN DEFENCE

The government had stubbornly held Pozuelo, separated from Madrid only by the Casa de Campo, in the face of repeated insurgent blows from their southern column.

Their defences gave only under the combined assault of the northern and southern wings of Gen. Francisco Franco's army.

The insurgents push six miles south from Las Rozas, and then four miles eastward toward Madrid was described as one of the widest advances on the siege front in many weeks.

The general advance started when insurgents beat back a determined government counter-attack to relieve Socialist forces surrounded in the snow-peaked Guadarrama Mountains.

REPULSE REPORTED

A government counter-drive, centred on the recently captured town of Las Rozas, vital junction point on the Madrid highway to the mountain positions, was repulsed with heavy artillery and machine gun fire.

Insurgent troop movements were reported on the northern fork of the Guadarrama road toward Torrelodones, forming a deep pocket around the government stronghold of El Escorial.

New Advertisement May Bring Return Of Mattson Child

If Charles I. released at a prearranged place and found either by the family or federal agents, there is reason to believe he will be placed in a hospital instead of being taken to the large, old English style Mattson home.

ON LONELY ROAD

Dr. Mattson and the Federal Bureau of Investigation both have considered the possibility Charles might be freed on a lonely country road—as little George Weyerhaeuser was—and discovered by a resident who might take him directly to the house. Precautions were being made to prevent the child being overly excited.

"I've got to consider that boy first," said the doctor. "I don't know what condition he will be in when he is found."

Charles, while not delicate, is not robust. When he was stolen from the living-room of the home his clothing consisted of blue knickers, a blue zipper jacket and house slippers.

CLOTHING BOUGHT

One report yesterday by a Shelton merchant indicated the kidnappers had bought heavy underwear and a sweater for him.

The frigid night passed with no word from the kidnapper, despite all avenues to the Mattson family being left entirely unguarded so the abductor could freely collect the money and liberate the boy without molestation.

Indications were, today the kidnapper held a status of immunity to all laws in the Northwest. He was assured of security in any action he might take because of complete inactivity of law enforcement agencies.

The U.S. Department of Justice, state patrolmen and city police all had acquiesced in the plea by Dr. Mattson that no action be taken which might endanger the life of his son. Even the corps of newspapermen and photographers which had watched faithfully at the Mattson residence was absent today, likewise giving the kidnapper an open route to the family.

NOT INVESTIGATED

Reports from Shelton yesterday that two men had purchased clothing suitable for a boy of Charles's age were accepted by the Department of Justice, but were not investigated. Officials also manifested "no interest" in kidnap clues from Spencer, Iowa, and San Francisco.

Despite all these official aids, however, there was no indication today that the ransom had been paid—and the boy had not been returned.

Belief the ransom payment still pended was based on a second voluntary statement to the press given Wednesday by Dr. Mattson, in which he begged newspapermen to follow the example of law officers in allowing him free rein in his dealings with the kidnapper.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Associated Press

Barstow, Calif., Jan. 7.—Sheriff's deputies today established as a case of mistaken identity the report of a Civilian Conservation Corps foreman that he had seen kidnapped Charles Mattson riding with a man and woman through Mesquite, Nev., last Sunday.

Mrs. Dorothy J. Mayne of Barstow told deputies here that she, her husband and their twelve-year-old son were stopped Sunday at Mesquite by officers and released after an investigation.

The CCC foreman, Alf Hardy, had reported he had recognized the Mattson boy from newspaper pictures.

U.S. PACIFIC COAST COLD

Chilly Weather All Way From Ocean to Mississippi

Associated Press

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—Polar air brought the shivers to residents of the Pacific Coast of the United States today.

Temperatures dropped sharply, frost covered the green grass here and ice formed in inland waters.

The entire Pacific slope had clear but very cold weather, with continued freezing weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

To the east chill blasts poked into the central states.

WEST OF MISSISSIPPI

Subzero temperatures were general west of the Mississippi River. It was forty-five below zero at West Yellowstone in an unofficial reading. In Montana the numbing cold caused two deaths.

Blizzards in Utah, Nevada, Arizona and other mountain states marooned scores of travelers and left highways clogged with snow. Several snowbound Utah cities were on fuel rations.

BUS PARTY RESCUED

At Cedar City, Utah, a railroad wrecker battered through snowdrifts to rescue nine bus passengers marooned fourteen hours. Snowploughs struggled through eight-foot drifts at Winona, Ariz., to rescue marooned motorists.

In Nebraska two trains were stalled in snowdrifts and many highways were blocked. Ice sheathed highways made traffic hazardous in Iowa and Wisconsin. Highways out of Las Vegas, Nevada, were blocked last night and the fate of a rescue party of four, headed toward three persons stranded at a mine, was unknown.

The chill wave spread southeastward across Texas.

Clever wife! She knows how to put true tastiness into her casseroles

THE secret of tasty flavor in meat dishes is to add Yorkshire Relish. It gives a flavor you cannot get with any other sauce. Mellow, piquant. The same good flavor our grandmothers got by the use of herbs and roots and spices.

Use Yorkshire Relish in hash, meatloaf, soups, stews. All your friends will ask for the recipes.

A bottle of Yorkshire Relish takes four years to make! More than 20 carefully selected ingredients—fruits, vegetables, herbs, spices, essences—are measured and blended with test tube accuracy, then allowed to mature for four years to give you this rich, fruity sauce.

In addition to the delicious flavor Yorkshire Relish gives, the aromatic herbs and spices it contains are a definite aid to digestion.

Try its taste before you cook

See how flavorful Yorkshire Relish is. Pour a few drops into a teaspoon, then sip it. What flavor! Hot, yet sweet; no other sauce can impart such delicious flavor to your cooking.

RECIPE for Teesdale Casserole

4 cups cold cooked beef, cut in 1-inch cubes.
2 cups brown sauce or gravy.
½ cup celery, cut small.
½ cup carrot, cubed.
1 onion, thinly sliced.
1 cup tomatoes, cooked or canned.
1 teaspoon Yorkshire Relish.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon pepper.
1 cup peas, beans, or mushrooms, cooked or canned.
1 cup potato balls, part-boiled ten minutes.

Put the first 9 ingredients in casserole dish. Cover and bake 1 hour in moderate oven (350°F.) Add other ingredients and cook 30 minutes longer or until potatoes are soft.

"Do you confess your willingness to take Juliana as your legal wife and to support her wherever she goes?"

"Yes," the prince replied.

When the burgomaster asked Juliana the counterpart of the same question, she answered unhesitantingly, but in a low, hushed voice, "yes."

"Then," the burgomaster said, placing their hands together, "under Dutch law I declare you to be married and am now entitled to address you as Your Highnesses."

Before performing the ceremony Dr. de Monchy received the nodded approval of Queen Wilhelmina, the bride's mother, and Princess Armgard, Bernhard's mother. (Under Dutch law consent of the head of the family is necessary for the marriage of persons under thirty years of age.

Then, having warned the prince and princess of the difficulties and responsibilities of marriage, he pronounced them man and wife.

Four times the population of this ancient capital of "Europe's biggest little nation" thronged the streets for a glimpse of the tall, plump bride and the scion of German royalty.

Many waited through the night for vantage places along the route of the wedding procession.

VILLAGE WEDDING

At the same time, in the little town hall at Oestgeest village, simple farmer folk gathered to attend the civil marriage of "the other Juliana."

The peasant girl and Martinus Van Stijn, her sailor-fiance, shared the nation's rejoicing because — both Julianas having been born the same hour of the same day, twenty-seven years ago—their's was the only other wedding permitted in Holland today.

Among the most interested spectators in imposing St. James Dutch Reformed Church, where Queen Wilhelmina was married thirty-six years ago to Juliana's father, the late Prince Consort Henry von Mecklenburg-Schwerin, were those who paid a total of $10,000 for $1,000 seats. Their money helped heat and decorate the edifice.

Owners of stands along the line of march made last-minute efforts to fill empty places at high prices, then drastically cut their charges from 25 guilders ($13.50) to 5 guilders. Some were glad to take even less from the thrifty burghers before their places were filled.

MESSAGE FROM CANADA

Ottawa, Jan. 7 (Canadian Press).—In connection with the marriage today of Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, announcement was made that Prime Minister King had sent a message of congratulation, Tuesday, through Sir C. Hubert Montgomery, British minister at the Hague.

Thousands Ill In U.S. and Britain

epidemic in the Rocky Mountain states rose today to 142 since December 12, the vital statistics bureau reporting thirteen here in the last twenty-four hours. Schools in Denver and nearby towns have been closed as a precautionary move.

INCREASE REPORTED

Washington Jan. 7 (Associated Press).—The public health service said today influenza was on the increase all over the United States.

There were 3,998 cases reported for the week ended January 2, compared with 2,088 for the previous week. A health service official said these represented "only a fraction" of the actual number of cases.

By I. NORMAN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 7.—Authorities reiterated today that the influenza epidemic sweeping the British Isles would become worse before declining. The Ministry of Health, however, said: "There is no cause whatever for alarm."

More than three times as many persons died this week than last from influenza in the larger cities of England and Wales, health department figures showed today. The number of deaths in the current week was set at 325. Last week there were ninety-seven.

Unlike the 1918 epidemic, which caused more deaths throughout Europe than the whole of the Great War, the present wave has caused but few fatalities. The influenza apparently is mild.

(The Havas News Agency reported 325 persons had died of influenza in London during the last week).

POLICE ABSENT

The Metropolitan police today reported 1,400 absentees. In Leicester 40 per cent of the city's school children were sick. In London one in ten had influenza or bad colds. Private hospitals report they are unable to accept more patients. Work in all hospitals has been retarded by illness among the doctors and nurses.

ARMY MEN SUFFER

All ranks of the army suffering from colds, headaches and other symptoms of influenza hace been ordered to report sick immediately.

Conservatives Endorse Efforts of Organizations for Representation

Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations to secure for Victoria adequate representation on the Canadian Radio Commission network were strongly approved by the executive of the Victoria Conservative Association yesterday evening. R. D. Harvey presided.

It was reported to the executive that the Canadian Farm Loan Board offices had been removed from here to Vancouver a change which was noted along with several others of a similar nature which federal authorities have effected during recent years.

The executive named a special committee to investigate the reported withdrawal of Saturday afternoons and public holidays from postal employees in the Dominion. Complete facts were not available at the meeting and the following committee was appointed to make further inquiries: Hubert Lethaby, chairman; Mrs. F. Waite, F. J. Popham, William Duck and J. J. Bothwell.

Six members of the Young Conservative Association were welcomed to the executive committee and these will shortly be joined by local delegates to the B.C. Conservative Association, who, by constitutional change, will be named executive members.

A resolution of condolence over the recent death of Lincoln Smith, a lifelong associate of the organization, was passed by the meeting with a standing vote.

At a brief general meeting which preceded the executive session, Brigadier J. S. Brown said the importation of printed material with a foreign viewpoint had grown immensely since removal of the Bennett tariff on U.S. publicatons. Meanwhile, he claimed, trade opportunities with the United Kingdom were being neglected.

New Car Record Set Last Year

During the year 1936 Canadian customs at Victoria and Sidney handled 21,512 foreign cars, compared with 14,234 cars handled through the two Vancouver Island ports in 1935, an increase of 51⅓ per cent, George I. Warren of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was advised today by George A. Yardley, collector of customs.

These 21,512 foreign cars carried 59,015 passengers, against 38,349 passengers carried by the 14,234 cars in the previous year, a passenger increase of 20,666 or 54 per cent.

Canadian cars handled during 1936 through the two ports totaled 5,927, compared with 4,930 in 1935, an increase of 997 cars or 20 1-5 per cent.

The 5,925 Canadian cars handled during the last twelve months carried 16,156 passengers, as compared with 12,902 passengers carried by the 4,930 Canadian cars in 1935, an increase of 12,902 or 25 1-5 per cent.

Moresby Heads School Board

Returned as Chairman by Colleagues; Will Not Take Post Next Year

Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., who topped the school poll at the civic elections last month, was returned as chairman of the city school board at the inaugural meeting last night.

He was nominated by Trustee P. E. George and put in the chair by acclamation.

Later in the evening Mr. Moresby named Trustee Ferguson chairman of the finance committee, Trustee George head of the building and grounds group and Trustee Walter Staneland leader of the educational committee. Each committee includes members of the board as a whole. They will meet regularly on the Monday evening prior to the regular board meeting and, on other occasions, at the call of the chair.

Following his re-election to the chairmanship of the general board, Trustee Moresby thanked his fellow-members for the confidence they had shown in him. He appreciated the honor they had bestowed upon him, but stated he would not allow his name to be nominated at the end of this term. A change in the chair was sometimes advisable, the trustee declared.

URGES LOW RATE

The chairman stated he had greatly enjoyed the co-operation of the board last year before emphasizing the financial difficulties the city would face during the year. He urged the board to keep the mill rate for school purposes down to a figure no higher than that set in 1936.

In discussion following the appointment of committee chairmen, Trustee Staneland requested that all accounts be placed on the table for the perusal of all of the board members. He also asked that warrants be treated in the same manner, saying that he had learned of payments to temporary employees of which he had not been aware at the time they were made.

Trustee Moresby stated all warrants and all communications of the board were available to any of its members.

Trustee Charles R. Bishop asked the chairman if he would adopt a policy of voting on all matters during the year in order to show the other members his leanings on various questions. He also asked that all divided votes be recorded.

New Fire Trucks Stated Needed

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—The Vancouver Fire Department needs six new trucks and fifty-six more men to place it in "fairly safe condition," Ald. L. D. McDonald, retiring chairman of the civic fire and light committee, advised the council yesterday in his annual report.

Owing to low-budget appropriations and a new provincial statute limiting firemen to a sixty-hour week, the department is operating far below standards set by the British Columbia Fire Underwriters, he claimed.

MANY ABSENTEES AS SCHOOL OPENS

Freezing weather, colds and minor infections, not of a serious nature, were considered responsible for an unusual number of students being absent from city grade and high schools when the term opened on Tuesday, George H. Deane, municipal inspector, said today.

About 13 per cent of the total enrolment failed to appear for classes on the opening day.

While a complete report on the cause of absence will not be available before the end of the week, Mr. Deane stated only twenty-four cases represented victims of measles.

The cold weather had prevented many parents from sending some of the particularly young children to school, he said. Their attendance was recorded, however, when the weather improved on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

War Prisoners May Be Shot

Associated Press

Bayonne, Jan. 7.—The Spanish Consulate here announced yesterday evening that all Germans captured by the Socialist forces on the Basque front in Northern Spain would be tried by courtmartial and might be sentenced to death before firing squads.

The only German held by the Basques at present, said a consulate spokesman, was an airman captured after a Fascist air raid on Bilbao on Tuesday.

"He is awaiting trial, and if sentenced to death will be shot," the spokesman said.

Discuss New Construction

School Board Considers Auditorium for Burnside

Serious consideration of a request for an auditorium at Burnside School and further investigation of plans for the improvement of the technical centre at Central School will be undertaken by the city school board as the result of action taken at its inaugural meeting last night.

A request was read from the P.-T.A. of the Burnside district asking for the establishment of an auditorium for the six-room school.

Trustee P. E. George stated he thought the matter should be given serious thought. He was supported in his stand by George H. Deane, municipal inspector, who said certain curricular specifications required such a structure. One suitable for the activities set forth in the curriculum could be constructed for approximately $2,000, he said.

On a motion by Trustee John Wallace the board tabled the matter for consideration with the estimates.

TECHNICAL CENTRE

After lengthy debate on reroofing the technical centre, the board referred the matter back to the building and grounds committee for consideration at a meeting next Monday evening at which the building and grounds superintendent and teachers in the centre will be present.

At the request of Trustee Nellie Evelyn MacLaurin Trustee George brought in a report on new plans for the improvement of the structure. Architectural specifications he had secured placed the price of one type of roof with special ventilation and lighting facilities at $1,533.

The figure was considerably in excess of the $650 set by the board when it had considered plans drawn by the acting building and grounds superintendent, he said.

The superintendent still thought his plan, one which would call for a hip roof, would be satisfactory, Trustee George said. He gave his own opinion that the new plan called for a system of lighting which would not be exceptionally efficient.

Trustee George spoke of the illness of one of the teachers at the centre who was suffering from an ailment he attributed largely to inadequate facilities there.

NEED IMPROVEMENT

"If we cannot afford the suggested new plan, I think we should at least do something to improve existing conditions," he said.

Trustee Mrs. MacLaurin suggested the original plan be accepted and work started on the building immediately. The proposed new scheme did not merit the increased outlay she thought.

Trustee Kenneth Ferguson voiced opinion the skylights in the old plan would be unsatisfactory and Trustee Charles Bishop moved for the tabling of the question for another week.

George H. Deane, reminded the board of the importance of ensuring lighting and ventilation of such a nature as to protect the health of the students and teachers. The building, he said, would be in use for many years.

Trustee Ferguson put forward a motion to have the board investigate the possibilities of financing the more expensive alteration. If that could not be constructed, he thought work should start on the original plan.

Trustee Staneland remarked that teachers had favored the first scheme. Why, he asked, should it be discarded.

After further discussion, the board, on a motion by Trustee MacLaurin, referred the matter to the building and grounds committee for further study Monday night.

Heads Named By Red Cross

Brig.-Gen. J. G. Austin Is Elected President of Victoria Branch

Brigadier-General J. G. Austin was elected president of the Victoria and district branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society at the branch's annual meeting in the Belmont Building yesterday. Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, was named honorary president.

Other officers were elected as follows: Honorary vice-president, Mrs. Harold Fleming; vice-president, Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P.; honorary secretary, Lieut.-Colonel R. S. Worsley; honorary treasurer, Captain J. U. Gordon; executive committee, E. W. McMullen, J. W. Hudson, G. H. Stevens, J. Barraclough, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Mrs. J. L. Grimison, Mrs. A. J. Dallain and Captain J. G. Corry Wood; auditor, E. A. M. Williams.

The extent of the work still carried on among returned veterans was well illustrated in the report submitted by Major S. H. Okell, manager of the Red Cross Workshop. He pointed to a great increase in the work of manufacturing Remembrance Day poppies, and said that the 1936 revenues from this source were $2,200 in excess of those in 1933.

FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN

The financial campaign held by the Victoria branch in conjunction with the provincial division of the society in the fall was referred to by Captain Gordon in his report as last year's secretary. To date $7,034.05 had been subscribed, he said, but the lists were not yet closed and a few small contributions were still being received.

Captain Gordon referred to the work of visiting veterans in hospitals carried on by members of the local branch, keeping up the primary duty of the Red Cross Society, that of caring for those who suffered for their service in the Great War. During the year Mrs. Grimison had made twenty-four such hospital visits, he said.

RELIEF OF SUFFERING

In the matter of relief, the local branch had looked after 131 cases of need during 1936, providing clothing of all sorts, blankets, bedding, groceries, medical attention, dentures, surgical appliances and special treatments.

"The Red Cross Society has successfully adjusted itself to its new duties in peace-time, and is in a strong and vigorous condition," he told the meeting.

The serious need of strengthening the branch's finances was pointed out by David Leeming, who presided at the meeting.

The following were named to the Red Cross Workshop committee: General Austin, Mrs. Fleming, Charles Hensley, J. W. Jones, G. H. Dawson, G. H. Deane and Sir Richard Lake.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the provincial Red Cross Society to be held in Vancouver next month were chosen as follows: General Austin, Mrs. Girmison, Colonel Worsley, Mr. Anscomb and Captain Corry Wood.

START EARLY TAX PAYMENT

More Ratepayers Anxious to Meet 1937 Levy in Advance

Anxious to meet their obligations early in the year, citizens of Victoria have prepaid 1937 taxes to the extent of $112,482.61 in the three and one-half days during which the city's offices have been open this year.

The figure stands $3,331.77 above the corresponding collections at the beginning of last year, officials of the city assessor-collector's department reported today.

Receipts on Thursday and Saturday morning totalled $62,452.28 on the current account. This was swelled by $32,481.19 on Monday and $17,549.14 on Tuesday. The three and one-half days' total at the start of 1936 was $109,150.84.

Prepayments are being made on a basis of last year's tax rate. Should the rate vary this year, the collector's department will arrange for refunds or further collections if it is lower or higher.

The totals quoted included the usual interest allowance given by the city to those who meet their taxes in advance.

Endorse Choice For Reeveship

Esquimalt Ratepayers' Executive Again Names F. G. Eaton for Candidacy

The candidacy of Councillor Frederick G. Eaton for the reeveship of Esquimalt was re-endorsed last night by the executive of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association. Councillor Eaton will contest the chief magistracy with Reeve Alexander Lockley.

In December the association had named an entire slate to contest the reeveship, three council seats, two regular school board seats, one one-year school board term and a seat on the police commission at the municipal elections January 23. At a later meeting the nominations were rescinded on the grounds that the original meeting had not been properly advertized and was not fully representative of the association's membership.

The executive met to name a new slate last night, but only the reeveship nominee was chosen.

The new slate for the other municipal vacancies will be selected at a meeting to be held in St. Paul's parish hall at 8 o'clock next Wednesday, when Councillor Eaton will speak.

Canadian Airways have now reached as far west as Medicine Hat, Calgary and Edmonton; and it is proposed to push the Canadian Western Airways as far as Vancouver.

Well! Well!

IN THE CHRISTMAS-NEW YEAR'S rush the news from New Brunswick did not get through to us. However, The Ottawa Journal has faithfully recorded it. It seems that right from the old Loyalist city of Saint John has issued word that New Brunswick hereafter is not even going to recognize Confederation. There really is no reason to be surprised as the perpetual stirring of the Maritimes rights issue and all that was brought before the Duncan Commission to substantiate the claims connected therewith should have prepared us against any shock.

The facts are that last month when Prime Minister Mackenzie King at Ottawa was abolishing one monarch and creating another by order-in-council, and the rest of us were accepting King George VI as King of Canada, down in New Brunswick they were proclaiming him "King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of this Province dependent on and belonging to the said Kingdom."

Moreover, we now learn, the Hon. A. P. Patterson, New Brunswick's Minister of Education, Federal and Municipal Relations, announced that "it is our intention to teach the history of this Province as a province of the United Kingdom." That is, ignoring Canada altogether.

"So there," says The Journal, "we've been worrying about what De Valera might do, and all the time, right in our own back room, one of our own was walking right out on Confederation. . . . But, perhaps not right out. At all events we seem to remember that when New Brunswick's Premier Dysart was here for the National Finance Council meeting (we were proclaiming George VI King at that time) he seemed to be satisfied to string along with us. Indeed, if we're informed rightly, Mr. Dysart was so anxious to string along with us that he was worried about old age pensions and a few other things like that. . . . Even Mr. Patterson, we notice, hasn't said anything about our keeping those New Brunswick subsidies."

Forget It

THE REPORT COMES FROM LONdon that former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett proposes to ask for the tabling of all letters and messages which passed between Ottawa and Westminster in connection with the abdication of Edward the Eighth.

The present Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, naturally will place the documents which are in his possession on his desk as a matter of routine. They will be open for inspection by every member of Parliament. It is to be hoped, however, that no matter what the contents may be there will be no rancorous discussion on the subject.

The Statute of Westminster, the legislation which gave complete effect to the famous Balfour resolution of the Imperial Conference of 1926, required the government of Great Britain to consult its partners in the Britannic Commonwealth of Nations on all questions associated with the Throne and the ramifications of the monarchy.

As far as we are able to judge, Canada and the rest of the Dominions concurred in the actions of the government of Great Britain, and there would be no point at this late date in stirring up a discussion in the Parliament of Canada.

When Parliament opens at Ottawa it will have more important things to discuss than an "incident" which has passed into the limbo of things forgotten.

Mr. Bennett has had a good holiday. All will hope that he will return to his native land fully restored in health. All will hope, too, that he will not get "steamed up" about something which, after all, really is not Canada's concern.

Well Done, Australia!

DOWN IN THE IMPOSING AUStralian city of Melbourne yesterday in summer weather the English cricketers bit the Antipodean dust. In other words, they were "licked" and "licked" badly. But they have two games in the bag and one against them. Two more matches have to be played. One more win by the visitors will mean the return of the mythical "ashes" to the Old Land.

These games between the wielders of the willow are good for those who partake in them and good for the sportsmanship which they engender. On the present occasion there has been nothing said about "body-line" bowling. The nearly 90,000 spectators the other day, however, seemed to get a bit irritable at slow scoring. But when a man has been at the wickets for many hours, is it to be wondered at that at times he feels it about time to "block" the "leather" which is being hurled at him every few seconds?

It is fitting, of course, to congratulate Don Bradman, the Australian captain, on his marvellous score of 270 runs. His batting may not be of the old school; but when he hits he hits. Perhaps old Dr. W. G. Grace, that dean of English cricket of a bygone age—not forgetting his flowing beard—would have taken Don into the "pavilion" and lectured him. And it would have been a stern lecture. But if "Don" had met the famous Gloucestershire cricketer he might have said: "Quite right 'W. G.', but I don't lose my temper."

Seems Reasonable

THERE WAS MISUNDERSTANDing over the observance of the new King's birthday on December 14. It was observed in British Columbia with schools, public offices and banks closed. But it was not thus observed in England. The experience here was that the holiday came at an unfavorable time, upsetting examination schedules during the final week of the school term and making it awkward for business houses deprived of banking facilities at the peak of the Christmas buying rush.

The Lethbridge Herald points out that May 24 is not observed in Britain but is a holiday all Canadians observe. Canadians like observing it because it is the first holiday after the long northern winter. It comes at the beginning of the outdoor season for most of the country. A midwinter holiday is unsuitable for public jubilations in most parts of Canada, which are by that time firmly in the grip of winter.

Is there any reason why Canadians should not declare that hereafter they are going to observe Victoria Day in place of the actual birthday of the reigning monarch? The Herald asks, speaking on behalf of the zero-weather-bound prairies. Probably Parliament could do something to this end, it suggests, thus ending this holiday confusion.

Why not?

Perry the Peer

NEARLY 18,000 spectators in New York's Madison Square Garden last night saw Fred Perry of England, now professional, but the world's amateur champion for three years, beat Ellsworth Vines, United States holder of the world's professional title, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

It was Fred Perry's debut into the realm of professionalism. Apparently all the betting was against the Englishman. And the dispatches from New York tell us that Mr. Vines had a bad cold and a temperature of 101 degrees.

We are neither a tennis expert nor a medical expert; but what intrigues us is how a man of Vines's reputation could go on to the courts with a temperature of 101. It seems somewhat strange.

National Anthem "Murder"

CONTROVERSY IN ENGLAND, centring just now on the National Anthem, is also of significance here. It started when Dr. R. W. L. E. Downer, of Shrewsbury, critically remarked: "Usually the singing of the National Anthem is poor. Instead of expressing phonetically 'God Save thee King,' we hear 'God Save thur King'."

The doctor's views are reported to be shared by many musical authorities. Sir Thomas Beecham, conductor of the London Philharmonic Orchestra, agreed that the usual rendering fell a long way short of what was desirable.

"God Save the King should always be played as if it were indeed a national anthem instead of a jig to ensure the exit of the public from any building in the shortest possible time," was his characteristically candid and cryptic comment.

Other musicians and choirmasters agreed that the National Anthem is frequently "murdered" by orchestras and choirs, and that the attempts of the public to sing it were often "pitiful."

At present several different versions are in vogue and it is felt the standard of choral and instrumental interpretation has suffered. It has been stressed that if a universal version were to be adopted, it should be that approved by King George V and issued in an Army Order in January, 1933. The order was made in the hope that the approved version as rendered by military bands might rescue the Anthem from misuse and get it properly played and sung all over the country. Too many people, however, appear to be ignorant of the fact that an official version is in existence.

According to the Army Order the version is: "For the quiet (pianissimo) opening the official tempo is M.M.—60; the second part of the tune is to be played in two-bar phrases fortissimo, in a broader manner; rather more slowly; at a metronome rate of 52. This applies when the whole verse is played or when the National Anthem is sung. For singing the official key should be F."

Notes

Are the coal and wood merchants rubbing their hands with glee these days? We think so.

Promoters are slipping. None has yet engaged Mrs. Simpson to appear in vaudeville or the movies.

Nature in the rough is cruel and little creatures must scurry from cover to cover like people crossing a street on a busy traffic day.

A woman in northern Ontario who is ninety years old has never seen a motor car. That, Hal Frank opines, is why she is ninety years old.

"Bucks die with horns locked," says a picture caption. No wonder; it raises the blood pressure dangerously even to get your bumpers locked.

Heading in a mainland newspaper: "Hearst and Mae West earn highest American salaries." Some of us ought to go up and see them some time.

The Earl of Warwick wants a divorce. Let us see, wasn't there a Warwick who earned the sobriquet of King-maker? But it takes Hollywood finally to put the skids under domesticity.

Certainly it was cold in Victoria yesterday and the day before—and it is cold today. But look at the sunshine and remember that there is neither snow nor ice on the streets. Be thankful, you grousers.

Loose Ends

And you imagine it's cold—But what about those others out there in the wilderness where it is cold—for Nature, as Mrs. Noggins says—is still boss and we are human.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

COLD, YOU SAY

YOU think it is cold today. You complain bitterly of the weather as if Providence had discriminated against you. You brood over your coal bin and look at the thermometer and curse the observatory experts for always being right in their forecasts. But what do you know of cold?

As the north wind roars about us out here tonight, and all the neighbors huddle indoors as if their last hour had come, we are thinking of our friends, away from this mild coastal region, who really know what a cold snap is.

We are thinking of old Bill Burridge's little log cabin on the frozen Sumallo River, thirty miles from anyone, in the white jumble of the Hope mountains. Bill will be snowed in alone now, six or ten feet of snow on the trail by his cabin; snow up past the windows, without the mark of a human foot in it. It will be 40 degrees below zero and the stars at night over the narrow ragged rift in the valley will be larger and brighter than any stars we ever see here.

With a smoky oil lamp, Bill will be reading over again the huge pile of wild west and detective magazines which have been kicking about his cabin for the last ten years, as travelers have left them there. Bill will absorb more murders, hold-ups, abductions, kidnappings, burglaries, assaults and romances before spring than any man in America. Also more beans and baking powder bannocks. Between times he will listen to the outside world on his tiny radio set which has two tubes missing, so that you can only hear a faint whisper through the head phones in the night time.

And you say it's cold here

THE BAD LANDS

WE ARE thinking of the family of settlers we saw in the summer, far out beyond the Chilcotin, out in the bad lands on the edge of the coast mountains. They had only a tent then, but were building a log cabin. There were six of them, a man and his wife and four children, besides a cow and eleven chickens. They are locked in that vast sweep of hill and frozen marsh, 100 miles from anywhere, their cabin a black speck on the endless immensity of snow.

To the west, the coast mountains gloom over them. To the east a trail of 100 miles to the Cariboo settlements. They know what a cold snap means. How is the cow getting along, I wonder, out there so far away from her kind? Have all the chickens been frozen? (And then you complain about our little spell of weather.)

We are thinking of the great plateau of Grandpa O'Shea, ringed 'round now with snow so deep that the children can't get down the hill to school. Only an Indian or two, on snowshoes, comes up the hill now, to bring the mail. They will have the snowplough out, bucking the huge drifts, but it won't make much progress in a day.

They will be filling big bobsleds with hay from the giant stacks out on the range and scattering it on the ground for the scowling, red-faced cattle with their long, rough winter coats. The horses, with more brains, will have taken to the southern range, safe from the north wind, and they will be pawing through the snow for the precious dried bunchgrass still lying down there, full of nourishment. But Spike and Cherry Queen and the other favorites will be in the stable yard, will wheedle their way into the warm barn at night.

And at night there will be roaring fires of crackling pine knots in the great fireplace, and two or three times before dawn all the stoves will be re-charged to keep the sprawling ranch house above freezing, and even then the milk and eggs will freeze in the storeroom, and some of the calves that arrived too late in the summer will be lying stiff on the range in the morning. (You think it's cold here, eh?)

NORTH ROAD

WE ARE thinking of the great north road, the Cariboo Road, which must be kept open no matter how cold, of those endless lonely miles where the motor stages still run in the teeth of sub-zero winds, while you lie in a warm bed at night; of that illimitable sweep of jackpine north of Clinton, the Hundred Mile Hill, where you will stall and freeze up if your chains aren't strong, if you don't know the peculiar art of snow driving; of the narrow ledges above the Fraser past Quesnel where you will slide over into the river 1,000 feet below if you put on your brakes; of the Hundred and Fifty, the Hundred, the Seventy and those other old road houses that feel so warm and smell so friendly when you come stamping in, half frozen after a day of driving through the snow. (It's cold here, you say?)

We are thinking of the cowboys out in the hills today, rounding up the strays. The wind cuts you out there, like a thousand whip lashes, blows up your leather chaps, and the drifting snow blinds you. Your horse keeps his head down, eyes half closed, wallowing through the drifts, picking his way along the shallow places, working around behind the shelter of the pines. If he gets lost now you are done for, but he won't. He'll take you home, with one ear frozen, maybe, and your hands apparently detached from your body. (And you still imagine it is cold here.)

WE ARE HUMAN

"WOT I don't rightly understand," said Mrs. Noggins, pursuing this same theme as we drove to town this morning through our local blizzard, "is why people make such a fuss about it, you know. The cold, I mean. Why bless you, they allus worry about the small unimportant things. Why they're killin' thousands of wimmin and kids in Spain, you know, bombin' 'em up every day, but nobody worries about that around here. Bless you, no. But when it freezes a bit, you'd think the world was a-comin' to a hend. Everybody's desprit except Alf.

"It's now that a plumber comes into 'is own, you know. It's now 'e begins to cash in on all the years of trainin' in 'is perfession. Well, it must be a joy to a plumber to think 'e's 'elpin' so many people, savin' their pipes, you know, like a doctor saves their lives. The doctors and the plumbers, I allus say, is the people we 'ave to look to in a crisis. And like I said to my boy Alf, it ain't just the money you make, it's the satisfaction of savin' 'em. Just the same Alf needs a new suit and this cold snap will set 'im up.

"The way I look at it, it's good for us to get a cold snap oncet in a while to let us see who's still runnin' things. We get the idea, you know, wot with all the inventions, and the gover'mint and the C.C.F. and all that we're runnin' things, that we're boss. Then along comes a cold snap like this and wot does all the inventions and gover'mints and C.C.F.'s amount to? They can't keep you warm of a night. Nachur is still boss, sir, and sometimes I think she just wants to teach us a lesson. Like I said to Alf when 'e was winnin' at poker all the time till he thought 'e was going to buy a new car. 'You'll see,' I said, 'it won't last. Nachur's agin it.' It didn't last. Nachur just wouldn't stand fer it. Same as now. Nachur is showin' who's boss and it ain't the gover'mint or the C.C.F. We bin gettin' too 'igh and mighty idees 'ere in Victoria on account of our climate, lookin' down our noses at other people. We needed a bit of weather like this to show us we're just yuman. We are, you know, wotever they say. We're just yuman."

SAVOR TO HIS SUPPER

To the Editor:—Can I possibly be correct in my conjecture that Mrs. Colclough's contributions to your letter column are smoothed into soothing rhythm by Gertrude Stein—Bruce Hutchison's heroine?

May I pay a humble tribute to that same Mr. Hutchison? My supper would be savorless without the piquancy of his pungent philosophy.

You see, Mr. Editor, unlike Mr. Sinnott, I find at least two of your paper's features free from dullness.

POPULAR TEACHER HONORED

To the Editor:—The members of the Beethoven Choral Club last Monday night at their rehearsal meeting presented Professor J. B. Hoffman, their director, with a beautiful smoking cabinet.

Mr. Thomas Crabbe, one of Victoria's leading baritones, and a member of the club, made the presentation with some appropriate remarks.

Professor Hoffman, who was taken with utter surprise, thanked the members and expressed his deepest appreciation, and promised that in future he would work still harder in order to merit such wonderful devotion of this group of singers toward their director.

PITIES THE POSTMEN

To the Editor:—It is a little difficult to understand the ruling of the federal postal authorities which required postmen to make the usual deliveries on Christmas Day and on New Year's Day. Obviously no commercial deliveries were required on either day as all offices, stores and places of business were closed. In the residential area, for the sake of a belated greeting card, it seemed an undue hardship on the postmen to deprive them of an opportunity to spend these two major holidays with their families. If there is any day in the year when there should be a complete holiday there can be little doubt that the day is Christmas Day. Many, no doubt, were the family reunions that these men were unable to attend or enjoy to any extent. The fact that they are given overtime off during the year hardly seems an answer. There may be an explanation, but one can hardly conceive one under the circumstances. I am quite sure that it cannot be said that there is any public demand which would support such a ruling, and to remedy the situation in the future steps, I think, should be taken by public bodies to enable these men to enjoy the same privileges as those enjoyed by other public servants and persons not employed in connection with essential services.

MENINGITIS SITUATION

To the Editor:—Last night's Times reported that there had been another death from meningitis in this city.

For the sake of the general public I should like to know if the persistent rumour that the Jubilee Hospital refuses to take meningitis cases is true.

I have repeatedly heard that a case diagnosed in the Jubilee as "meningitis" was sent to the Isolation Hospital and then as the doctor could not get adequate treatment for his patient at that institution was taken to St. Joseph's, and there died.

As all the cases reported in the papers have been at St. Joseph's, this gives considerable weight to the general impression.

It would appear to me that the Jubilee Hospital, being a public institution, should have facilities for handling diseases of this nature and be the logical place for cases of this sort, instead of imposing citizens thus afflicted on to the sisters at St. Joseph's.

It is hard to believe that Jubilee Hospital is so inadequately equipped.

A SISTER OF A VICTIM.

Editor's Note: — Meningitis cases are not refused at the Jubilee Hospital, but medical men do not like to send patients there because of the lack of surgical facilities. In the treatment of spinal meningitis it is customary to make spinal punctures each day. This cannot be done at the Jubilee Isolation Hospital. The only cases that can be handled at this hospital are smallpox, measles and scarlet fever, but should ear trouble develop from the last two named diseases it would be necessary, if surgical attention was required, to transfer the case to St. Joseph's Isolation Hospital. A plan is now under consideration by the health committee of the City Council, the provincial government and other parties to modernize the Jubilee Isolation Hospital and make it serve the southern end of Vancouver Island. This would require contributions from the municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt as well as from the government and the city.

QUESTIONS FOR GYROS

To the Editor:—Here are some questions about the Gyro hampers that seem pertinent and I and others would like to have answered:

1. How much cash was actually collected by the Victoria Gyro Club for the hamper fund?
2. What did the radio broadcasts and the ballyhoo cost?
3. What quantity of goods was donated and collected at the childrens' matinee?
4. What cash came from the Gyro Donkey Baseball held at Willows for the hamper fund?
5. What groceries were bought and from what firms?
6. What were the brands purchased and the prices paid, wholesale or retail?

THE FIRST DAY AND THE LAST

(From the New York Times)

We mark the last day of the Old Year as if it were reckoned accurately from the moment when time began to run. According to the Scripture record, "the evening and the morning were the first day" in creation. The count which the rocks have kept, with the aid of the helium clock, leads the geologist to estimate that they are as much as two billion years old. But it was not until man came that time became "the life of the soul" and not the mere measurer of the darkness and dawns. At the recent meeting of the American Philosophical Association it was stated by Dr. Hellmut de Terra of Yale University that the "Year One" for the human race came at the "division point between pliocene and pleistocene"—usually reckoned at about a million years—that is, between the "new" and the "most new."

Today is still our "new" day, but tomorrow the "most few" and we daily begin again the story of the earth, when every day is a fresh beginning, when every morn the world is made new, whether in a twelve-month or thirteen-month year. And the curriculum of life for us is to see the world every day as if we were early inhabitants on the ice-free hills, getting our first glimpses of its pleistocene glory, yet acquainted with the history of its pliocene past. But also spending each pleistocene day as if it were or might be the last. So time ceases to be the "same sad sinage of the years."

We are not mere clerks of time, "tiering the same dull webs of discontent," but beings heir to such a world as the late John Burroughs described:

> A better world I have never wanted. I could not begin to exhaust the knowledges and the delights of this one. I have found in it deep beneath deep, worlds within a world—an endless series of beautiful and wonderful forms forever flowing out of itself. From the highest heavens of the telescope to the minutest organisms of the microscope, all is beautiful and wonderful and passeth understanding.

Modern Etiquette

Q. When one is in doubt, while eating, whether to use a fork or a spoon, what should one do?

A. A good rule to follow, in such an instance, is never to use a spoon where a fork may serve the purpose.

Q. Is it good form to close a letter with the phrase, "Yours in haste?"

A. Never. Any evidence of haste is discourteous.

Q. Is a woman abusing her social acquaintance with a man if she applies for a position in his business?

CONSCRIPTION

The point is that the world isn't full of militant youth; on the contrary, where youth is regimented it is not on its own initiative, and where it isn't regimented it doesn't volunteer. The tragedy of the conscription of the young is that so many have no choice; they are forced into line as the cheapest and most available raw material in the armament race.

Leacock Talks To McGill Men

Former Professor Is Honored Guest of Graduates' Association

Like a thread running through the anecdotes of old McGill, which Dr. Stephen Leacock spun before a banquet given him by McGill Graduates' Association in the Empress Hotel yesterday evening was the "peculiar affection retained for the old college."

"Even the bitterest moments and the harshest times at university soften with the years," the famous economist and former professor of McGill declared, "Sift out all the 40 per cent stuff and you will find there something better than life itself—something which you will carry for ever."

Realising that the gathering represented an almost apostolic succession of McGill, Dr. Leacock admitted that he had taught Sir Arthur Currie, and said that Sir Arthur had taught Joe Clearihue.

The economist said that he had put in almost half a century at teaching, thirty-five years of which had been at McGill. He had picked up degrees everywhere.

"All degrees are excellent, but I never got the right ones," Dr. Leacock said, "I have no degree in divinity and I have never became a horse or medical doctor."

The nearest he came to being a doctor was once on board a ship when the captain seeing his name on the registry had requested him to come and look at the injured leg of a stewardess.

He had worked for his degrees at Toronto and Chicago, but strangely enough he had been given a degree by the very Scotch university of Queens. The greatest honor bestowed on him was a doctor of law at McGill, which was given him with the distinct understanding that he go away.

Looking back on old McGill, Dr. Leacock recalled the characteristics and peculiarities of two deans—Pat Johnson and Charles Moyes.

"Don't too easily let go the values of forms and ceremonies," the economist cautioned, "they all have a deep and significant meaning."

The deep sleeves on the gowns of the doctors of philosophy had a use in the old days when the students received succulence in the way of hams and meat in these sleeves, he said.

J. B. Clearihue recalled a time when he had been one of those who had attempted to keep Dr. Leacock from speaking when he introduced his old professor. He thought that the doctor would make a splendid ambassador-at-large for Canada.

Dr. H. H. Murphy, in thanking the speaker, seconded Mr. Clearihue's suggestion that Dr. Leacock be made a world ambassador. Love of fellow man was back of the doctor's wit, sentiment and judgment, he said.

Dr. Hermann Robertson, president of the McGill Graduates' Association, was in the chair.

SEA KILLS GERMS

La Jolla, Calif.—The ocean is the biggest and perhaps the best of all germ killers, Prof. Claude E. ZoBell of the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, has found. Harmful bacteria can not survive any great length of time in raw sea water, his studies show. He has not found just what it is in the ocean that kills germs, because synthetic or manufactured sea water is not so germicidal as the real article.

Canadian Girl Weds Viscount

Canadian Press Cable

London, Jan. 7.—The wedding took place quietly today at Chelsea Old Church of Peggy, daughter of the late Charles and Mrs. Cambie, to Viscount Carlow, only son of the Earl of Portarlington. Cambie for many years was in the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, notably as London manager.

The bride wore a white satin gown, with veil and trimmings of old family lace. The only bridesmaid was Lettice, daughter of Sir Henry and Lady Stephenson. The two pages were Robin and Timothy Gladstone, children of the bride's sister, Mrs. Malcolm Gladstone. They wore white satin suits.

A small reception was held at Sir Edward Peacock's town house. The honeymoon will be passed in Switzerland.

Presbyterian Schools Rally

The annual rally of the combined Presbyteran Sunday schools of Victoria was attended by a large number of scholars and friends at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last Sunday with R. M. Hall as chairman.

The scripture reading by the Rev. T. McAllister was taken from the first chapter of John's gospel; after which the Rev. Jas. Hyde offered prayer. The chairman in his remarks suggested a united picnic for the Sunday schools of the denomination.

The Sunday schools represented at the meeting were: Erskine, Chinese, Gorge, Knox, St. Andrew's and St Paul's schools.

The newly formed Erskine Young People's Society rendered a group song, and one of their members, Miss Joy Dempsey, gave a recitation. Fifteen girls of Miss Catherine Craig's class sang an inspiring hymn accompanied on the piano by Miss Craig. After a chorus by the congregation, James Mossop rendered a cornet solo. Bert Olton gave a brief talk on "The Treasure Chest of Salvation," and used unique objects to illustrate his discourse.

A new feature of this year's rally was the presentation of a banner which has been donated by Mrs. A. Humphries to the Sunday school having the greatest percentage of its pupils present at the rally. Mr. Bracken, superintendent of the Erskine Sunday school, was presented with the banner by Mrs. Hyde.

Alex. McD. Hall directed the singing with Jesse Longfield at the organ. The Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell brought the programme to a conclusion with a few remarks and the benediction.

Victoria West W.M.S.—The Women's Missionary Society of Victoria West United Church held its first monthly meeting in the new year, on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. W. F. Perry, Arm Street. The opening devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Perry, the president, assisted by Mrs. George Guy. Appointed as secretarys and heralds for this year were: Mrs. George Guy, Kingdom of God movement; Mrs. A. W. Wright, Christian stewardship; Mrs. G. Newell, temperance; Africa, Miss M. Beattie; Japan, Miss S. Beattie; India, Mrs. J. H. Croft; China, Mrs. L. A. Young; new Canadians, Mrs. E. Moore. Mrs. Guy gave a report of a number of calls made in company with Mrs. Frank Rees, in December, on sick ones in Jubilee Hospital. It was decided by unanimous vote to hold monthly meetings in future on first Monday afternoon in month instead of first Tuesday, as previously, the February meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Newell. Attention was called by the president to the treasurer's report given by Mrs. Croft, as cause for much thankfulness from everyone, as the financial objective, at times seeming quite unattainable, had been fully reached. After the meeting closed, Mrs. Perry's kind hospitality was enjoyed, with Mrs. Guy presiding at the tea-table.

Wife of Famed Surfrider Visits

Mrs. D. Kahanamoku Here On Way Back To Honolulu

Mrs. David Kahanamoku, American-born wife of David Kahanamoku, brother of Duke Kahanamuko, famous swimmer and surfrider of Hawaii, is in Victoria today awaiting the sailing of the liner Empress of Japan on Saturday for Honolulu.

In his surfriding exploits, David Kahanamoku is the equal, if not the superior of his famous brother, Mrs. Kahanamoku asserted at the Empress Hotel this morning.

Duke, the elder, has been more publicized than his five brothers, which accounts for his international fame, David's wife naively pointed out. She did not minimize the Duke's prowess, however.

But David, her husband, she said, was recognized as the most perfect specimen of the famed sextette of Hawaiian surfriders.

It was David who taught former King Edward VIII the art of surfriding, when as the Prince of Wales he visited Hawaii some ten years ago.

Mrs. Kahanamoku is a New York girl and was married to David Kahanamoku ten years ago.

She has been visiting her people at Millbrook, near New York for several months, and is now on her way back to Honolulu.

The tropic climate of Hawaii makes it necessary for white people to seek a more rugged clime occasionally, she remarked in telling of her excursions now and again to New York.

But Mrs. Kahanamoku has experienced all the winter she wants for sometime, traveling from New York to the Pacific Coast via the Canadian Rockies.

She will be glad to get back to Hawaii to be among the people she has learned to love.

She spoke of the "innate dignity" of the Hawaiians, which was inborn, and the "cultural background of the race, which "didn't appear to matter" on this side of the Pacific.

Catholic League To Hold Bridge

Plans for a bridge party to be given by the Victoria Subdivision, Catholic Women's League, at the home of the president, Mrs. Blair Reid, 110 Medina Street, on Wednesday, January 13, were made at the monthly meeting of the league last night.

Mrs. M. E. O'Neill, general convener, is being assisted by Mrs. E. Hornsby, Mrs. A. Costello, Mrs. A. F. Windau and Mrs. A. Gillis. Both contract and auction bridge will be played and all players are asked to bring their own cards and scorepads.

Mrs. P. Cowan-Shaw and Mrs. E. Masterson were appointed hospital visitors for the next month. The social welfare committee reported sending hampers at Christmas to the Indians at the Saanich Reserve. Mrs. A. Grant reported for the immigration committee and announced several newcomers. A vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. Ahern in her recent bereavement. The next business meeting, on February 3, will be followed by a social.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

There are only a few short years in which children have the privilege of being children. All too soon they are expected to take on the habits and exhibit the controls, which are the taskmasters of the grown-ups. It is too much, though, to expect that during this learning process children will never fall back on the simple, unaffected behavior which characterizes them, and which is their right as children.

A mother with children of two and three years is harassed by an apartment dweller in the flat beneath her who insists that the children be kept quiet. The mother on the lower floor has a son who works all night and sleeps all day, and in the interest of his undisturbed rest she objects to the children's calling to their mother and running about.

While all apartment dwellers accept a certain amount of decent restraint as the price of living so close to others, this problem seems to be one that must be solved by the dweller below, since her son's habits differ so from the usual. She must not expect that children, not belonging to her, will curb their voices and control their steps, so that no noise shall afflict her sleeping son. Let him stuff cotton in his ears. Let his bed be moved to some other room above which the children do not play. The mother above has endeavored in every way to keep her children from undue noise making. But they still remain children, and to tip-toe about from morning to night is not a natural habit of childhood.

Our leaflet on "Dealing with Curiosity" is helpful for mothers in training small children who are inquisitive about their surroundings. It may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, care of this department of this newspaper.

The gaiety of the Christmas party at "Thunder Mesa," the de Forest hacienda in New Mexico, has a tragic ending when PEARL SAM DE FOREST, eldest of three brothers, is found dead with a knife in his throat.

Each of the de Forest brothers has the first name of "Pearl." PEARL JOHN is the youngest, PEARL PIERRE next. Others at the house are: TANTE JOSEPHINE, old and an invalid; BETTY WELCH, her young companion; RAMON VASQUEZ and ANGELIQUE AREYTA, guests at the party; PROFESSOR SHAW, archeologist; and BOB GRAHAM, tire salesman who stopped at the hacienda when his car broke down.

Pearl Pierre, now head of the family, has his brother's body removed to the house chapel. The entire group assembles there for funeral services and is shocked to find that the body has disappeared.

Professor Shaw tells Ramon that "Thunder Mesa" is built on the foundation of an ancient Indian pueblo.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

Still thinking over what the professor had said, Ramon walked toward the little chapel, the scene of last night's amazing occurrence.

Opening the chapel door, he went in quietly, being careful to close it behind him. Then he gave a nervous start. Someone else was there before him. He had expected to find the room empty, but near the little altar a woman's head could be seen, bent in prayer. Ramon looked at her more closely, then smiled and slipped into a seat at the rear of the room until her devotions should be finished. Angelique was a devout child of the church. How beautiful she looked in the soft light with that absorbed expression on her almost childish face. He wondered why he could not fall in love with her.

Angelique arose and came slowly down the short aisle, then, at sight of Ramon, she gave a little cry of joy. "Oh, Ramon, you, too, have felt the need of prayer?"

"I felt the need of seeing you alone, dearest," he answered, drawing her into the seat beside him and holding both her hands in his.

"What do you mean, Ramon?" she asked, her expressive eyes searching his face anxiously. "Oh, you don't know how happy it makes me to have you say you want to be alone with me."

"Listen." He lowered his voice almost to a whisper. "I mean this, Angelique. If we're ever going to make our getaway from this place, you've got to help me. Now, suppose you should be very nice to Pearl Pierre and try to find out if he knows anything about any rooms beneath this hacienda. There's something here I'd like to find out about—just an archeological interest. Professor Shaw was telling me about this and we're both mighty interested. Also, I've an idea it might explain a lot of things that have happened since we came."

"You mean—, Ramon, has it anything to do with the murder?" she asked.

"I don't know, for sure." He slipped an arm about her and drew her nearer. "But I do know this—anything is better than just sitting here, doing nothing. Especially when there's the danger that something else might happen any minute."

* * *

"Ramon, I'm afraid!" the girl wailed softly, hiding her face on his shoulder. "Ramon, what could happen now?"

"I'm not saying anything will." His tone was a little harsh. "It's just that there is a possibility, and if you could find out from Pearl Pierre what I want to know, it might help prevent it. See?" His fingers caressed her soft cheek. "Say you'll do this for me, Angelique. We all want to get away from here, don't we?"

"Yes, Ramon. Yes! Though it's nice to be any place with you."

Her companion smiled in spite of himself and instead of answering, raised her pretty face and pressed his lips on her red mouth. She returned his caress so eagerly that he rose quickly and led her out of the chapel.

"It looks clearing. How about a walk to the edge of the mesa?" he asked, glad of an excuse to change the subject. "Get your coat. I'll be waiting for you."

When she rejoined him, warmly wrapped in her furs, they started out at a brisk pace through the snow. Evidently Angelique was still thinking over their conversation, for she asked, "Ramon, what if Pearl Pierre does know of hidden places in this house? Do you think that's where the body went?"

"Perhaps," he answered. "But let's not talk any more about it, dear."

For several minutes they walked in silence. Then Ramon caught the girl's arm and pointed to where a solitary figure stood out against the skyline. "The Indian still seems to be on the job, watching the top of the trail," he said with tight lips. "That means that no one is supposed to come up or go down without the permission of the people here. Do you see, Angelique, why I think it's high time we were taking a hand in this ourselves?"

"Yes, Ramon." She gazed, big-eyed, at the quiet sentinel and shivered a little in spite of her warm furs.

Veering away from the trail road, they tramped on along the opposite side of the mesa, stopping now and then to peer curiously over the steep snowy sides. Boulders thrust black crests above the snow here and there, for even the soft whiteness of the icy blanket could not completely cover the rugged sides of the mesa. In most places it was a sheer drop of great depth to the flatness of the plains below, and they realized more completely than ever how great their isolation really was.

"Anything could happen up here, and nobody ever be the wiser," Ramon said through gritted teeth.

Then he pulled her back suddenly behind a boulder. Someone else was walking along the edge of the mesa. As they waited, Pearl Pierre came swiftly toward them. At first Ramon thought he had seen them, but he passed by and made his way toward the blackened place among some rocks where the Christmas greens had been burned.

"Why is he going there?" asked Angelique, surprised.

"Sh!" Ramon laid his fingers on her lips. "Look—someone else is wondering, too." He pointed to another outcropping of rock farther on. The Indian guard was intently watching Pearl Pierre from behind that.

"He cut across that end," Ramon indicated the route. "But why all the secrecy?"

For several minutes Pearl Pierre poked about in the blackened heap of cinders, apparently unaware that he was being watched. Then he gave a sudden start, and for an instant stood staring down at something. Quickly he looked about as though hunting for something; then he hurried away in the direction of the house. What had he found among the ashes of the Christmas greens?

District Council Of A.Y.P.A. Meets

A meeting of the Victoria and District Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. was held Tuesday evening, with the president, George Bennett, in the chair.

Mr. Aylwin reported on the Columbia Coast Mission drive, being arranged for February, and requested all branch captains to get in touch with him immediately. Satisfactory reports were received from the treasurer, badminton convener, A.Y.P.A. monthly and extension committee. Branches are reminded of per capita tax and affiliation fees.

Mr. Gray presented a most satisfactory report on the conference souvenir booklet. Detailed information re the recent provincial council meetings held in Vancouver, was given and fully discussed.

A pleasant service and rally was held at St. Saviour's on Sunday, when the A.Y.P.A. charter was presented to that branch. W. Stone, L. Dixon and Misses L. Trickett and P. McDonald formed the committee.

Prior to the meeting K. Genn spoke on the devastation of British Columbia's forests; and urged all young people to co-operate in the movement for the protection, and where necessary the reforestation of these forests.

The next regular meeting of the council will be held on January 21. A re-organization rally will be held at St. Alban's, corner of Belmont Avenue and Ryan Street, on January 15, at 8 p.m. All A.Y.P.A. members and friends are asked to be present.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, JANUARY 8, 1937

Benefic aspects prevail today, according to astrology, but adverse influences may cause delays or obstructions in business plans.

Heads of business and government affairs come under a most fortunate direction of the stars. Impetus to ambitious plans is presaged.

Amazing events will mark the coming of spring and summer. History is to be written in terms never previously employed, while tremendous changes transform the civilized world.

Women are warned that many of their cherished traditions will be ignored and that they must use their organized strength in preserving what is best in modern manners and customs.

Many scandals have been foretold as signs of times that are to exact a great toll in wealth as well as in human life.

The winter may be exceedingly stormy. Heavy snows will fall in northern and eastern states, while in the south and west nature will be turbulent, for earthquakes and tornadoes are forecast.

Extreme care in safeguarding the health is enjoined. There is a sign read as foreshadowing epidemics that will affect the lungs and the intestinal tract.

The pendulum of fate will swing back and forth from luxury in living to poverty and distress in many parts of the world. In the United States there will be extraordinary need of charity that is wise as well as generous.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of prosperity. Secret conferences and clandestine love affairs are prophesied for many.

Children born on this day probably will be well balanced, artistic and adventurous. Subjects of this sign may be extremely talented and successful.

Nicholas Biddle, financier, was born on this day, 1786. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, painter, 1836, and James Longstreet, Civil War general, 1821.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Doctors used to pay much more attention to the tongue than they now do. It once was customary for the doctor to look at a patient's tongue and to pay a great deal of attention to the kind of coating it had upon it, or to its color.

Dr. M. Fishbein

Scarlet fever victims frequently have what is called "strawberry tongue." When the tongue is furred and coated, there is usually some disturbance of digestion. A fever, or any other condition which causes dryness of the mouth, will be reflected very promptly in the appearance of the tongue.

The tissue of the tongue is fairly delicate, so that it responds promptly to irritations. Thus, the tongue may be suddenly inflamed by bites, burns, or by secondary infections while a patient is suffering from scarlet fever, typhoid or smallpox.

Whenever the tongue is infected, the glands under the jaw and on the sides of the neck also become infected and swollen in the attempt to stop the spread of the infection.

Occasionally, the tissue which holds the tongue is too long at birth. This develops into some exceedingly unusual conditions.

If the tissue is abnormally long, the tongue may fall back in the throat and be swallowed during sleep, asphyxiating the victim. This has happened in recorded cases.

The tissue which holds the tongue also may be so short as to cause tongue-tie, and consequent disturbance of speech.

There are instances in which the tongue overgrows so that it protrudes beyond the lips, and a condition has been described in which only one-half of the tongue develops properly, so that one half is larger than the other.

When children have an insufficient amount of secretion of the thyroid gland, the tongue seems large; and it almost invariably protrudes from the mouth in the type of thyroid deficiency called cretinism or myxedema. As will be shown later, when there is deficient secretion of the thyroid gland, the child usually fails to develop, both mentally and physically.

When the tongue is chronically inflamed and red, a digestive disturbance or sensitivity to various foods may be responsible. In these cases there sometimes is found a deficiency in the important vitamins, particularly of vitamin B.

Teeth and tonsils should be studied for presence of any infection. It is customary to use some mild alkaline mouthwash and to feed irritating fluids through a straw. If the patient has rest and ordinary attention, these inflammations usually clear up satisfactorily.

Associated Press

Moscow, Jan. 7.—Russia may boost her military budget $540,000,000 this year, preliminary figures of the budget commission show.

Defence appropriations were listed yesterday in a tentative report at 17,500,000,000 rubles ($3,500,000,000 at the official exchange rate), compared with 14,800,000,000 rubles ($2,960,000,000) in 1936.

Exact estimates will be laid before the Federal Executive Committee next week.

Australia Wins Third Test Match By Margin Of 365 Runs

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

THE International Ice Hockey Federation, with a motion before it to declare professional all Canadians playing in England, will visit London the newest hotbed of the sport in February for its annual meeting. The world's amateur championship tournament will be in progress. Germany and Switzerland have motions on file demanding a "clean-up" of so-called national teams in Europe, referring specifically to England, which won the 1936 Olympic championship with a team composed largely of Canadians. Switzerland, in particular, wants something done about it.

* * *

The Swiss will ask that all Canadian players living in Great Britain be declared professionals. Should the move succeed, England would have outright professional hockey, where now she has possibly superior amateur talent to that remaining in Canada. Lineups of English teams read like a "Who's Who" of Canadian hockey. A good part of Canada's last Olympic team, beaten by the British team at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, is there now. These stars include Hughie Farquharson of Montreal and Jimmy Haggerty, Jackie Nash, Alex Sinclair and Bobby McCranor of Port Arthur.

* * *

Kimberley Dynamiters, Allan Cup champions from British Columbia, will represent Canada in the world tournament and Percy Nicklin, one-time coach of the famous Moncton Hawks, will handle England's team of Canadians. Nicklin, number one coach in London, has scored his greatest success.

* * *

After building Richmond Hawks into one of the strongest teams of last season, he left to take charge of the newly-formed Harringay Racers who moved into a new London rink. The Racers have become a popular team and the new rink has become chief rival for famous Wembley.

* * *

While the Richmond club is getting nowhere, the Racers stand third in the National League standing with seven wins in twelve starts. Harringay seats more than 10,000, but when the Racers play, hundreds are unable to buy tickets.

Nicklin also is responsible for the newest hockey wrinkle—the oxygen room. Harringay has one which the players visit between periods to freshen up. It enables them to get the heavy smoke out of their lungs, which is inhaled when the crowd smokes during the game.

* * *

Andy Goldie, formerly of Toronto, plays goal for the Racers behind a defence composed of Len Burrage, one-time star of Moncton Hawks and Curley Kerr, formerly of Regina Pats and Prince Albert Mintos. There are not many defence trios as good in England.

Forwards include Bill Peer, Oakville, Ont.; Walton Monson and Archie Creighton, Winnipeg, and Pan Heximer, Niagara Falls, Ont. Only team definitely stronger than the Racers is Wembley Lions, featuring Goalie Roy Musgrove of Winnipeg; Defencemen Lou Bates of Ottawa, and Cam Shewan of Winnipeg; Forwards Albert and Tony Lemay and Alex Archer of Winnipeg, Jo Jo Grabowski of Oshawa and Gordon Dailley.

With the season not quite half over, England is showing more interest in hockey than ever before. More than 50,000 persons watch games each week.

English Cricket Eleven Dismissed For Score of 323

Touring Players Make Game Effort at Melbourne; Leyland Gets 111 Not Out

England Leading Two Games to One

Canadian Press

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 7.—Australia won the third cricket test match from England today by 365 runs after a battle that lasted nearly six days. In a game packed with thrills, the Aussies, taking advantage of weather conditions and a first innings' collapse by England, assumed the upper hand early in the contest and kept their opponents subdued until the end.

The Australian players took a big lead by dismissing England for 75 runs for nine wickets, declared, after piling up 200 for nine in their first innings. Australia compiled 564 in their second turn at the wickets, and although the tourists fought determinedly in the final stage of the match, they could muster only 323.

England goes into the fourth test at Adelaide, January 29, leading by two matches to one. The Mother Country won the first two tests at Brisbane and Sydney, and another victory will give them the series and world cricket supremacy.

GOOD FIGHT

Needing 688 runs for victory the Englishmen, led by Maurice Leyland, fought stubbornly. Going in early yesterday afternoon they made 235 for six wickets, and the end came today after 87 runs had been added.

The Yorkshire star defied the opposing attack for more than three hours to score 111 not out, his second century of the current test series. In the opening encounter at Brisbane he made 126 runs. His display was featured by powerful straight drives and hits on the leg side, 11 fours going into his bag.

R. W. V. Robins, Middlesx, and W. H. Hammond, Gloucestershire, also helped to give the visiting eleven a respectable total. The former played vigorously for 61, including 7 fours, while Hammond obtained 51.

Batting honors for the match went to Don Bradman, Aussie captain, who hammered the English bowlers for 270 runs. Although suffering from a mild attack of influenza, the twenty-eight-year-old South Australian batted in faultless style for more than seven hours, hitting 22 boundaries.

L. O'B. Fleetwood Smith, Victoria googly expert, justified his first appearance in this season's tests by taking five wickets for 124 runs in England's second innings. M. W Sievers, another Victoria State player, took five for 21 in the first innings.

Attendance records went by the board, more than 300,000 spectators passing through the turnstiles at the enlarged Melbourne cricket ground during the six days.

The score card:—

Australia— First innings, 200 for nine wickets, declared. Second innings, 564.

England—First innings, 76 for nine wickets, declared.

ICE PICTURE MAY CHANGE

Important Games Scheduled In Big Time During Next Few Days

The start tonight on a group of National Hockey League games that probably will do much to decide whether Montreal Canadiens are to retain their long lead on Montreal Maroons and Toronto Maple Leafs in the Canadian section.

Between tonight and Sunday each of the three teams will play a brace of hard games that may bring Leafs and Maroons closer to the Habitants and make it a tight race to shoot the Canadiens so far out in front the others will be weeks catching them.

Leafs and Canadiens play in Montreal tonight and in Toronto Saturday. Maroons play two games with New York Rangers Saturday and Sunday.

A shuffle among the United States division leaders is almost certain to result from the other two games tonight. New York Rangers, tied with Detroit for leadership, are out of action while the Red Wings play Americans in New York and Boston Bruins play Black Hawks in Chicago.

Both Bruins and Wings should win, which would leave Wings on top, Bruins in second place and Rangers third and without a chance to do anything about it until they start their two-game series with Maroons.

CHABOT ON HAND

It is still doubtful whether Lorne Chabot will perform in the nets tonight for Americans in place of the injured Roy Worters. Red Dutton may call on Alfie Moore of New Haven Eagles to play against Detroit, while Chabot practices for a later return to the game. However, if Chabot feels he is in shape for tonight Dutton is likely to start him against the world champions.

Dutton is studying various changes to build up his club after losing twelve games in thirteen starts. He has returned Red Doran, defenceman, to his New Haven farm, and may shift several other Amerks to the minor league team to make way for youngsters from the International-American League team.

GIANTS GET THEVENOW

New York, Jan. 7.—New York Giants yesterday announced the purchase of Infielder Tommy Thevenow from Cincinnati Reds. Thevenow will be assigned to the utility role filled last season by Mark Koenig, who was given his unconditional release.

Golf Greats Prepare

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 7.—Contenders for the $8,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament stroked around various courses today, adding finishing touches to their game for the start of the tournament tomorrow.

The first eighteen-hole round will find 128 players teeing off, a field trimmed down drastically yesterday in qualifying rounds held on four outlying courses.

Upsets were few among the non-qualifiers.

Big name golfers, all exempt from the qualifying round, remained favorites to win the tournament.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

FLYING FINGERS

Strange as it seems, no woman has ever approached the speed typing records established by George Hossfield and Albert Tangora, both of whom hail from the same home town, Paterson, N.J. The two men have tossed the world's championship back and forth for fifteen years.

For 1936, championship honors remain in doubt. Hossfield won an international championship tournament held in Toronto, Canada, while Tangora won a similiar title in a Chicago contest. Oddly enough, runner-up in the Toronto contest was another Paterson man, Barney Stapert.

Hossfield claims the world's record for speed typing with a mark of 135 and 29-60 words per minute, pounded out on his machine over a period of one hour in 1929. Tangora holds second best with 135 and 19-60 words—just one-sixth of a word slower. Almost incredible is a feat which the latter is able to perform. He can actually add up and announce within one minute the correct sum of a five-digit, six-row column of figures while simultaneously typing unfamiliar copy.

To date, Hossfield has won the undisputed world championship titles in the years 1918, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1926, 1927, 1929, and 1930. Tangora knocked crowns off in 1923, 1924, 1925, 1928 and 1935.

In official typing contests a "word" is five typewriter strokes written from copy never before seen by the contestant. To compute a contestant's score, the total number of strokes made is divided by five. To make matters really tough, ten words are deducted from the total score for each error made!

BRANDY CHURCH

The Plaza Church, first to be built in the "City of Angels," was financially made possible by the sale of barrels of brandy—donated by Spanish padres in 1818 and 1821. Most of the timbers for the building were cut by Joseph Chapman, a reformed pirate, who for years terrified Pacific Coast shipping.

One Blue Line in Hockey Coming Soon Says Boucher

Veteran Centre of New York Rangers Thinks Adoption of Single Strip Not Far Distant; Would Tend to Speed up Game and Prevent Interference by Defencemen

By GEORGE MAGUIRE

New York, Jan. 7.—Frankie Boucher, star pivot of the National League New York Rangers, sat in his Riverside Drive home last night gazing thoughtfully at a crystal ball.

Today Swami Boucher revealed the findings of his mystic wonderings, which naturally concerned the popular ice sport, now enjoying its best season since achieving top biling in winter sportdom this side of the border.

The crystal ball revealed to the Ranger pivot pictures of seven-man hockey. Then he saw elimination of the rover and introduction of the on-side pass as the magnates sought to lift the tempo of the game. Later came the forward pass and double blue lines.

Then as the hockey panorama passed before his eyes Boucher saw ousting of two blue lines for one single stripe directly at centre ice, as hockey tycoons sought to keep pace with the modern love of speed.

RAPID PROGRESS

"Right now I think the fans are pretty well satisfied," Boucher said. "At least the banner attendance throughout the league indicates that. But the march of progress has been rapid in hockey and it may not be in the far distant future before the single blue line idea is adopted.

"At present defencemen have pretty well circumvented one of the main reasons for the two blue lines, which was to speed up rushes—one of the game's finest spectacles—yet prevent forward passes the length of the ice.

"Nowadays defencemen stand right up to their own blue line and if the opposition stages a three-man thrust, what happens? The wings check their men and all the defencemen have to worry about is stopping the centre. Generally they make him hesitate just before he gets over the blue-line and the attack is spoiled because the wings slip over the line, causing an offside.

"A single line directly at centre would eliminate blue-line blocking and interference by defencemen. They would not dare take the chance of coming up to centre ice for defensive purposes. Yet, on the other hand, they could advance when their side was staging a power-play and naturally the ganging-up act would be more prolonged and intensified, as the defending side would have more difficulty getting the rubber out of their zone.

"And don't forget the fans get a big kick out of the power-plays."

Busmen's Hours Request Denied

London, Jan. 7.—The London Passenger Transport Board yesterday declined to grant omnibus men a seven-hour work-day. The decision followed two weeks of negotiation between the Board and the Transport Workers' Union.

On Tuesday the Railway Staff Tribunal rejected the claim of the Locomotive Engineers' Union for a six-hour day and a thirty-six-hour week.

MILLER WINS FIGHT

Cincinnati, Jan. 7.—Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, former National Boxing Association featherweight champion, moved along the comeback trail last night, winning the judges' decision over Frankie "Kid" Covelli of Brooklyn after ten fast rounds.

WALLACE WINS RING VERDICT

Canadian Welterweight Champion Takes Easy Call Over Billy Lee

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—Gordon Wallace, Canadian welterweight titleholder, buried Billy Lee, Reno, Nev., under a barrage of leather to take a ten-round decision from the Piute Indian here last night.

The Vancouver battler scaled 147 and Lee, 142.

Lee managed to dance away from Wallace in the first half of the bout but went down from a powerful left hook to the body for a four count in the seventh.

Lee weathered the storm, however, and came back nearly as strong as ever in the ninth to hold Wallace even.

Both fighters took things easy in the first few rounds and Lee landed the first hard blow when he caught Wallace with a left hook to the head in the second, the only round in which he got the nod.

BEAUDIN WINNER

Frenchy Beaudin, Montreal, took a unanimous decision from Harry Miller, Alberni, in the six-round semi-final, swarming over the islander from the bell, but doing no real damage.

Bobby Carrington, 147, Calgary, making his first professional appearance, was knocked out in the second round of a scheduled four-round preliminary bout by Morris Shkolnik, Seattle. Shkolnik weighed 149¼.

Wise weighed 138, and Keyes, 137¼.

Fred Gruden, 162½, Edmonton, gained a decision over Art Fry, 158, Dawson, Y.T., in the four-round curtain-raiser.

This Lad Ambitious

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 7.—Armand Charron, eighteen-year-old carpet factory employee who has never seen a college football game, has applied for the position of head football coach at North Carolina State College.

Weighing only 100 pounds, this five-foot-eight youngster has never played much football himself, due to his light weight and a broken arm suffered in childhood. However, he is a most enthusiastic fan, having studied football plays "as long as he can remember."

Asked what he considered his one main qualification for the job, he answered simply: "My imagination."

In a general way, he said, the "Charron system" of football strategy that he has evolved is a combination of the Rockne and Warner styles, plus a lot of his own developments.

Dominoes Within Game of Honors

Score Fifth Consecutive Victory Over Capitols, 50 to 32, in Local Senior Men's Basketball Campaign; Hoyle-Brown and Superiors Are Victors

Dominoes today were within a single victory of the Victoria senior "A" men's basketball championship. Last night at the High School gym Dave Nicol's squad turned back the Capitols for the fifth successive time, 50 to 32. With the clubs scheduled to play ten games during the season, the Dominoes need only one victory in five to cinch the title.

The Capitols, who put everything they had into the fray from start to finish, were never able to take the lead. They came close on occasions, but the Dominoes always pulled themselves out of danger in time. Early in the initial stanza the Caps tied the score 6 to 6, and later in the half got to within a point of their opponents. At the interval the Dominoes were in front 23 to 17.

KINNEAR HIGH MAN

Axel Kinnear turned in a fine performance to take high scoring honors. His total was eleven. He canned five of six free throws. "Webo" Webster, shifty front line man for the Dominoes, played a brilliant game, and was runner-up to Kinnear with nine points. Art Chapman and Hank Rowe took third position honors with eight points apiece.

High scorer for the Caps was Albert "Red" Martin, former member of the opposing team, with nine points, to be followed with Ollie Goldsmith also an ex-member of the Dominoes, who marked up eight.

The game at times was inclined to be a little rough, causing frequent sounding of the referees' whistles. Sixteen fouls were called against the Capitols and thirteen against the Dominoes. Harold McLean, Capitols, was ordered to the bench on four personals early in the second half.

The Caps were only really dangerous in the first half. Soon after the second session got underway, however, the former Canadian champions broke away, increasing their lead to the finish.

Hoyle-Brown took the measure of Liberty Cafe 27 to 21 in a senior B men's tussle that provided the action for the second engagement on the three-game card.

Tommy Macedo and Bob Macmurchie refereed.

The teams and scores follow:

Burnetts—D. Beere 8, P. Whyte 3, D. Anderson, J. Phillips 2, V. Sinclair, P. Addison and A. Taylor 4. Total 17.

Gainers' Superiors—Sparks 16, Edwards 2, Bethel, Hannah 6, Trotter 2, Elston 4, Purdy 2 and E. Peden 2. Total 30.

Liberty Cafe—Robb 4, Moore 6, Hornsby, Kirkbride 1, Lansdell and Naysmith 10. Total 21.

Hoyle-Brown—Levy 12, Bradley, Jones, Campbell 5, Paterson, Morgan, Caddell 2, Robertson 4, Fleming 1 and Elliott. Total 27.

Capitols—Martin 9, Goldsmith 8, I. McKeachie 2, Shepherd 2, Sharpe 2, A. McKeachie 2, Andrews 5 and McLean. Total 30.

Dominoes—Taylor 4, Webster 9, Davies, Mottishaw 2, A. Chapman 8, Coates 4, C. Chapman 4, Rowe 8 and Kinnear 11. Total 50.

W. P. BOWDEN IS PRESIDENT

W. P. Bowden was elected president of the Victoria City Kennel Club at the annual general meeting held this week. Dr. W. P. Daw was named vice-president, with F. Dodsworth treasurer and Mrs. J. R. Clark re-elected secretary.

The bench show committee, who will be responsible for the maintenance of the high standard of the shows staged by the club, will be as follows: Harry Dodds, Miss M. Robertson, Mrs. J. P. O. Wood, Mrs. J. W. Buckley, Mrs. R. F. Kaltenbach, J. R. Clark, H. Byron Mason, R. B. Woolston and J. Meldram.

Work of the club during the last year was reviewed and a satisfactory balance sheet read. It was shown that in twelve months the club had contributed nearly $200 to charitable organizations from show proceeds. This was made possible through the fine co-operation of the merchants of the city.

Arrangements have been made to hold a children's show the afternoon of January 23, to be followed by an evening 23, to be followed by an also under way for the staging of a championship show on May 22.

Fred Perry Blasts Out Victory Over Vines In Four Sets

British Ace Has Too Much Class For Californian

Makes Professional Debut at New York With 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 Decision

Perry's Cut Is Around $15,000

Canadian Press

New York, Jan. 7.—Fred J. Perry, lion-hearted Briton, tucked Ellsworth Vines's scalp among his souvenirs today as the befuddled tennis experts yelped for aspirin.

Before the largest throng in the history of indoor tennis, 17,630 sitting and standing customers, who paid $58,119.50 to see the show, Perry made his professional debut at Madison Square Garden last night by upsetting Vines, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Hardly a recognized tennis expert of note, except possibly a few foreign scribes who know the kind of a heart Perry has, gave the dashing, clowning Briton a ghost of a show against the lanky Californian with the deadliest forehand in the net world.

Vines, in justice to him, was a sick man as he squared away with the abdicated amateur tennis king in the smoke filled garden, but it is doubtful if he were sicker than Perry. After the match, Perry lay on the rubbing table for twenty minutes, coughing and gasping. Vines, crestfallen, undressed hurriedly, too! his shower and said nothing.

BOTH HAD COLDS

"You can see Vines wasn't at his best, that he was weakened by his bad cold," said Perry between coughs. "I beat him by twenty-four hours."

Most of the drama, what little there was in the match, was crowded into the first set. Vines started service and it was so blinding that he won the first game at love. Perry came right back to win the second at love with a magnificent rally.

Holding service, they swapped game for game until the eleventh, when Perry broke through with his aggressiveness and superior play around the net, winning the two games with the loss of only three points.

Although the challenger, Perry got the bigger cut of the record-shattering receipts. His share was 37½ per cent of the net as against 12½ for Vines. It was estimated Perry's first pro start netted him around $15,000 or $20,000.

Another singles match and a doubles encounter were also on the programme, with George Lott topping Bruce Barnes, Texas, 6-2, 6-5, in the singles, and Tilden and Barnes beating Perry and Lott, 6-3, 6-2, in doubles.

The singles match was called off in the second set to permit the feature clash to start per schedule.

CRICKETERS ON CARPET

Four Members of Australian Test Team Appear Before Board of Control

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 7.—Four Australian test cricketers appeared before the emergency committee of the board of cricket control today, it was learned, in connection with rumors regarding their behavior off the field.

The meeting was held at the instigation of Don G. Bradman, Australian captain. While the nature of the rumors was not disclosed, it was stated on high authority the players were told the behavior complained of was unfair to Australia.

A spokesman for the cricketers, who, it is understood, were Stanley McCabe, W. J. O'Reilly, L. B. Fleetwood-Smith and L. P. O'Brian, denied the rumors and all parties ended the meeting on the friendliest terms. No official action is likely to be taken.

A member of the board of control informed Reuter's News Agency that Bradman had made no oral or written complaint against any particular player. With the exception of O'Brien, the men concerned played in the third test that ended today in a 365-run victory for Australia.

The team to represent the Aussies in the fourth test, starting at Adelaide, January 29, will not be selected until next week.

COX TO MAKE RETURN HERE

Wild Man of the Wrestling Ring to Oppose Bull Martin Saturday

"King Kong" Cox vs. "Bull" Martin, a bout featuring a pair of the mat game's toughest badmen, will be the main event on Promoter Fred Richardson's wrestling card at the Tillicum gym Saturday night. The show will open with a preliminary at 8.45 o'clock.

Martin, who hails from Trenton, New Jersey, is a past master at handing out the rough stuff and is an excellent clown. Wherever he shows, there is bound to be plenty of fireworks for the fans. It should be a great contest when he tackles the "Lodi Wildman" over the eight ten-minute-round route.

Another who glories in punishing his opponent with rough and unethical holds is Cox. The Californian is no piker. When he roughens matters up he really goes to town.

Fans have been clamoring for a match of this sort for some time now so Richardson is varying from the usual booking of clean wrestlers. There should be action galore.

The remainder of the card will be announced tomorrow. There will be a semi-main event, a special bout and the local preliminary.

The annual general meeting and election of officers of the Victoria Horticultural Society will be held at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, February 2, in the City Hall, it was announced by D. D. McTavish, president of the society, yesterday. The annual meeting was to have been held Tuesday but, as only eighteen members attended, it was called off. Aside from reading the minutes of the previous meeting, no business had been transacted when the motion for adjournment was voted. Angus McKay, who scored the largest aggregate number of points in the society's three annual shows last year, was presented with the Banksian medal by Mr. McTavish at the meeting.

COULD NOT LIFT ARMS ABOVE HEAD

Owing to Painful Rheumatism

This woman suffered from rheumatism in her back, arms and legs. For two months she endured this painful condition, then, like many another sufferer, she decided to try Kruschen Salts. Read her letter:—

"About fifteen months ago I had rheumatism in my arms, back and legs. The pains in my arms and legs after getting warm in bed were almost unbearable. I was like that for two months, and could not reach above my head. I read so much about Kruschen Salts that I thought I would try them. I am so glad to say that for more than a year I have not had the slightest return of my rheumatism."—(Mrs.) H. E.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently due to deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. Kruschen Salts assist in stimulating the internal organs to healthy, regular activity, and help them to get rid of this excess uric acid.

INQUEST ON GUARD'S DEATH

Man In Custody In Ottawa During C.N.R. Constable R. Mahlig Inquiry

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Inquest on the death of Constable Robert Mahlig of the Canadian National Railways police, who dropped dead last night after allegedly being struck a blow on the side of the head by a loiterer he was ejecting from the Union Station here, was opened and adjourned today.

Meanwhile Lorne Kennedy, forty-three, who was taken into custody a few moments after Mahlig had fallen, appeared in court on a vagrancy charge and was remanded for a week.

An autopsy will be performed to see whether Mahlig died as the result of a blow or from other causes.

Kennedy was arrested last night after bystanders in the Union Station had said they saw a man strike a blow at the fifty-three-year-old constable, who fell to the stone floor.

Kennedy told officers Mahlig had been chasing loiterers and had fallen downstairs.

France Gives Turks Warning

Will Not Tolerate Attempt by Turkey to Seize Alexandretta, North Syria

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, Jan. 7.—France will not tolerate any armed coup by Turkey for the seizure of Alexandretta, North Syrian port, it was indicated today following reports that Kemal Ataturk was preparing some drastic move on the Turko-Syrian frontier.

The threats of armed Turkish action in support of the demand for Alexandretta's independence from the French mandate, coupled with Ataturk's holding of a cabinet meeting yesterday within a few miles of the border at Eski-Shehir, were regarded here as attempts at intimidation offering no real reason for alarm.

Nevertheless it was understood the Quai d'Orsay has already entered into communication with London on the situation in the Sanjak (district or administrative area) of Alexandretta.

DIVISIONS MOBILIZED

Attention centred on a statement published in the semi-official organ of Kemal Pasha, Cumhuiryet, which declared that "Turkey is determined to win its point in this affair by all and any means and if war should result it will be France's fault."

In connection with reports that two Turkish divisions had recently been mobilized in the Syrian frontier region, it was said here that France has only three battalions in the vicinity of the Sanjak, one of them at Antioch.

Shipper Races Arms Embargo

War Materials for Spain Worth $4,507,000 Loaded In U.S. as Bill Waits

Washington, Jan. 7—A parliamentary knot which held up signing of the speedily enacted Spanish arms embargo gave rise today to the possibility of another race to ship war materials from the United States to the Loyalist army.

House and senate jammed through the embargo late yesterday with only one dissenting voice, but a technicality may keep President Roosevelt from signing it into law until tomorrow afternoon.

Before that action could make the shipment illegal, Ricard Dineley, San Francisco munitions dealer, hoped he might be able to get a $4,507,000 cargo of planes and arms en route to Spain.

One shipment of planes, shipped by Robert Cuse of Jersey City, was carried from New York on a Spanish freighter yesterday while the embargo resolution was rushed through Congress at a pace reminiscent of the emergency banking bills four years ago.

CONGRESS EYES ON ROOSEVELT

Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt had the United States Congress guessing today about his outspokenness toward the courts and plans for wage and hour legislation.

Awaiting definite indication how far he would go, party ranks threatened to split into factions as the alternatives became plainer. Both houses were in recess, but that meant only the transfer of the arguments to private quarters.

The legislators speculated whether Mr. Roosevelt had a specific course in mind to assure "a liberal interpretation" of the constitution by the Supreme Court.

They had noted—and many Democrats cheered—the cryptic way in which he told Congress yesterday "means must be found" to adapt the judicial viewpoint "to the actual present national needs."

SOOKE CAMP RULING SOON

Health and Water Committees to Meet Tomorrow On Contentious Issue

A definite recommendation from the city water board and health committee regarding the use of Sooke watershed property for a provincial forestry camp is expected tomorrow when the two groups meet to discuss the matter before it goes again to the council Monday night.

Mayor Andrew McGavin today called the joint committee meeting for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. He expressed confidence a decision would be reached on the issue which concerns the provincial government's wish to operate a camp for upwards to 100 men in the area.

Provided the committees are convinced such a camp would constitute to menace to the city's water supply, it is understood the corporation will favor its establishment.

REPRESENT GOVERNMENT

Ken C. McCannel and W. G. Stone, representing the government, called upon the mayor today to discuss the issue. They were assured their representations would be given every consideration.

Tomorrow's committee meeting will be one of a series of sessions held by different standing groups which have swung into action without delay since their appointment on Monday night.

This afternoon the fire wardens met to discuss the inauguration of the sixty-hour week for local firemen.

On Saturday, Alderman Ed. Williams, chairman, will convene the first meeting of the public works executive this year and attend to matters referred to his group by the council Monday night.

Need Licenses For Insurance

Coverage On Automobiles Void If Drivers Are Not License Owners

Persons driving automobiles without drivers' licenses, or who permit friends to drive their cars with the knowledge the friends are not possessors of licenses, render insurance policies void, it was explained this morning in a statement from H. G. Garrett, superintendent of insurance.

The statement covered particular points in standard insurance policies of which the 134,000 licensed drivers in British Columbia appear to be totally ignorant.

The statement has been issued as a warning to auto owners in view of the approaching season for renewal of motor and driving licenses.

Standard policies, it was explained do not cover in the following cases: A car not designated in the policy and not owned by the person named in the policy; a person other than the named insured unless the latter consents to the use and operation of his car by the former; the son, drughter, wife, husband, mother, father, brother or sister of the name insured; passengers, gratuitous or not, unless an extra premium has been paid, or a person who buys the car from the name insured.

In cases where the named insured or any person using the car with his consent, is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or where the named insured or any person using the car with his consent is not qualified and authorized by law to drive or operate the car insured, the company would be liable if damage were sustained by the public. It would not be liable to the named insured in these instances, however, and further, would be entitled to recover from him any damage sustained by the public and paid by it.

Approve Change In Water Rates

Changes in the rules and regulations under the Water Act governing the rates for water power used for hydraulicking, mining and power purposes have been approved by order-in-council.

The changes are those announced as being contemplated some time ago. It was reported there were no major alterations in the rates and collections from this source would not be greatly increased.

Thomas J. Lewis of Manitoba, who was required to take out a $20 motor license for his car when he entered British Columbia in September on the grounds he was not a bona fide tourist, will have the money returned him. An order-in-council approving remittance of the money has been passed by the cabinet which was informed Mr. Lewis had returned to his prairie home after visiting friends in a number of interior cities.

NATION IDEA PEACE MENACE

Dr. Stephen Leacock Speaks to Rotarians On Possibility of War

Dr Stephen Leacock warned members of the Rotary Club today against being unseen assassins in a speech, "When Can We Start the Next War?"

"By 'unseen assassins,' Norman Angel meant all those people who by deed or omission of action aided in the bringing about of war," Dr. Leacock explained.

"We should be as anxious to prevent war on this happy, lost paradise of Vancouver Island as in the crowded cities of Germany," he said.

Covenants and treaties were useless unless there was the spirit, the feeling of virtue behind them, Dr. Leacock said. The building of this spirit would be a long, hard struggle; it would be as slow as the building of the pyramids.

"If there is a war in Europe, there will be a war all over the world," Dr. Leacock said. "We cannot fly away from the flames. We will be engulfed, and after the war, there will be social upheaval and revolution."

Peace was essential, he said. But it would have to be a peace which would contain justice and, moreover, generosity.

"You need never fear that if war passes, human valor and virtue will disappear," Dr. Leacock said. "There will be lots to do. There will be lots to overcome."

GREATEST MENACE

After the break-up of the Roman Empire the allegiance to a clan which developed into a nation was the thing that saved Europe. But now nations were out of date.

Civilization, science and humanity had long moved past the idea of nations and were striving for a common purpose for all mankind, Dr. Leacock said.

"The world has come to a critical moment," he declared. "It must unite or break in pieces. Warring nations are an outworn mode. Civilization—science, air, radio—knows no boundaries."

Hamilton Harmon introduced Dr. Leacock as an old school teacher of his. George Melrose thanked him. Frank Doherty was in the chair.

Issues Warning To Cycle Riders

Cyclists are just as liable to be prosecuted for breaking the rules of the road as motorists are, Chief of Police Thomas Heatley warned this morning.

Among the infringements of the traffic rules which the chief finds are especially prevalent at the present time on the part of cyclists are the following:

Failure to carry proper headlights after dark.

Failure to carry proper red reflectors on the back of cycles.

Failure to stop at stop signs and arterial highways and behind street cars taking on or discharging passengers.

Holding on to the back of street cars and other moving vehicles.

The chief spoke especially strongly of the last of these offenses, and warned that all cyclists doing so would be immediately prosecuted.

Strike Changed Plans for Tour

"We intended making the cruise through the Panama Canal to the Pacific coast, but the continuance of the marine strike forced us to change our plans, and so we decided to see something of Canada," said Fred C Wightman, New York representative of the Kenwood Mills, blanket manufacturers, who is at the Empress Hotel today.

"We left New York on Christmas Day and came on to the coast over the Santa Fe, and we are returning by way of the Canadian Rockies and the C.P.R.," said Mr. Wightman, who is accompanied by his wife and their son, Fred.

"Everybody is waiting to see which way Roosevelt will jump," Mr. Wightman remarked in talking of post-election business developments in the United States, but there is no doubt that things are moving ahead. We have experienced a wonderful business year in New York."

Mr. Wightman, who was a major with the A.E.F. in France, is making his first contact with the Canadian west, and he expressed delight with his visit here.

"You have a magnificent country out here," he commented after returning from a drive in the invigorating air.

DEATH VALLEY VETERAN SUED

Wife of Walter Scott, Mystery Prospector, Seeks Separate Maintenance

Associated Press

Long Beach, Calif., Jan. 7.—Walter "Death Valley" Scott, mystery prospector, was sued here today for separate maintenance by Mrs. Ella Josephine Scott, sixty. She said they were married November 15, 1900, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mrs. Scott asked the court to award her $1,000 a month and living expenses and medical care. She said she was without funds and was suffering from physical disabilities. She also asked for $25,000 for purposes of maintaining the legal action and for an accounting and division of all community property.

The complaint sets forth she believed her husband owns lands, gold mines, mining claims and other properties in California, with a value of not less than $1,000,000.

FORD TELLS JEWS BOOK NOT HIS

Associated Press

New York, Jan. 7.—Henry Ford, in a letter signed by his general secretary, E. G. Liebold, has disclaimed all knowledge of the anti-Semitic book, "Der International Jude" (The International Jew), which was published in Germany last year with a jacket implying Mr. Ford had written the book.

The automobile magnate's disavowal of the book was announced in a letter to Samuel Untermyer.

Mr. Untermyer, in a recent letter to Mr. Ford, also had called attention to reports that two employees of Ford, one an executive, had encouraged anti-Semitic propaganda. On this point Mr. Ford's letter said his employees always had received "the fullest freedom from any coercion with respect to their views on political, religious or social activities."

GERMANY CUTS GRAIN TARIFF

Duties Sharply Reduced But Prospect of Heavy Buying Questioned

Associated Press

Berlin, Jan. 7.—Germany cut tariffs on grain imports sharply today.

Foreign authorities here questioned whether the move signalled a great increase in grain purchases abroad since Germany maintains a vigorous and detailed system of control over imports.

Effective January 1, the duty on wheat was reduced from 8.50 marks per 100 kilos, equal to 220.45 pounds, to one mark.

ATLANTIC SAILOR LOST IN STORM

Canadian Press

North Sydney, N.S., Jan. 7.—Her flag at half-mast, the twenty-ton North Sydney fishing schooner Percy F. Russell limped into port here today to report the loss of one seaman and the thrilling rescue of another in one of the worst gales which whipped the Cape Breton coast in years.

William Buffett, twenty-three, North Sydney, drowned yesterday and Percy Thomas, twenty-six, North Sydney, son of Captain George Thomas of the vessel, was rescued when their dory was overturned 500 yards away from the schooner in a sudden squall.

No New Money For Albertans

Canadian Press

Elmonton, Jan. 6.—Premier William Aberhart announced today he had no intention "of creating any new currency in Alberta to conflict with our present Canadian money. Our new credit is merely intended to assist in the distribution of goods and services."

By the end of the current year, Pennsylvania will have approximately 550 miles of highway covered with fog lines, yellow strips painted in the centre of the road. Yellow is the color most readily discernible in fog, tests show.

Brother Andre Funeral Tuesday

Montreal, Jan. 7. — The body of Brother Andre lay in state today in his Oratory of St. Joseph, and thousands came up the snow-flecked slopes of Mount Royal in homage to the friar whose piety earned him reverence akin to that accorded sainthood.

The "miracle man of Montreal," at rest in the $4,000,000 edifice created out of his devotion to St. Joseph, was dressed in the plain black of any brother of the Congregation of the Holy Cross. A simple, black coffin held the slight body.

All night, the devotees of the holy man had been traveling up the hillside for a last visit with the man who was their counsellor and benefactor in life. Some of them esteemed his touch as having miraculous power.

Behind them, when they visited the shrine, some of them left their crutches and canes. These lay in a heap near the spot where the remains of Brother Andre lay today.

The body will lie in state until the burial next Tuesday. Later, it will be enclosed in a mausoleum now under design. As contributions come in, the continuance of his huge, unfinished stone oratory will be erected over his body.

Bette Davis At Plaza Theatre

Winner of High Award Has Starring Role in "Satan Met a Lady"

With Bette Davis, winner of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences award for being the best film actress of 1936, and Warren William in the stellar roles, "Satan Met a Lady," a Warner Bros. picture, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Plaza Theatre today.

It is a riotous yet intensely gripping mixture of love and intrigue, concocted by that master of fiction, Dashiell Hammett, author of "The Thin Man."

The talented cast also includes Allson Skipworth, Arthur Treacher, Winifred Shaw, Marie Wilson and Porter Hall.

Also being shown on this programme are Lew Ayres and Florence Rice in "Panic on the Air."

RIVER STORY AT DOMINION

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea Play in "Banjo On My Knee"

A drama with music, deftly relieved by comedy and enlivened by several new song hits, combine to make "Banjo on My Kee," the Twentieth Century-Fox picture which opens today at the Dominion Theatre, a hit screen production. Add to this a story that is distinctly different in theme and plot construction; with the locale of Tobacco Road and for characters the shanty-boaters who live, love and die on their ramshackle barges on the lower Mississippi, and the sum total is something new in movie entertainment.

Fighting—loving—laughing — weeping, the tempestuous emotions of these picturesque children of the mighty river stir the blood and intrigue the interest of everyone, from opening scene to thrilling climax. The selection of a cast to delineate these difficult roles was little short of inspired, with Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea co-starred, supported by such talented and popular players as Helen Westley, Buddy Ebsen, Walter Brennan, Walter Catlett, Anthony Martin and Katherine de Mille

Joe E. Brown to Appear at Atlas

Joe E. Brown will be at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow in "Polo Joe."

He plays the role of Joe Bolton an American youth who, after several years in China, returns home with a solemn-visaged valet— and an unbounded supply of tall tales. He returns to the arms of his adoring, gushing and disgustingly rich Aunt Minnie—who is a member of an extremely swanky polo-playing colony

Warren Hull and Jean Muir in "Fugitive in the Sky" is the second feature.

"For the Service" Now at Columbia

The most colorful period in the history of the United States forms the background for Buck Jones' newest starring feature, "For the Service," Universal's drama of the pioneer west, now at the Columbia Theatre.

Wagon trains and scout encampments, Indian settlements and trading posts are faithfully reproduced in this stirring story of the United States' expansion of domain from coast to coast.

Clifford Jones heads the supporting cast, which includes Beth Marion, Edward Keene, Fred Kohler, Edward Keene, Fred Kohler, Frank McGlynn Sr. and Ben Corbett. Isador Bernstein wrote the screen play, which was directed by Buck Jones himself

Guy Kibbee Will Be Here Tomorrow

"Three Men on a Horse," which as a stage play is now well into its second year on Broadway and still going strong—and which has toured the country in seven road shows—will come in film form to the Capital Theatre tomorrow.

There is a grand cast headed by Frank McHugh and Joan Blondell and Guy Kibbee.

McHugh, whose faintly-querulous laugh and outlandish antics have made millions laugh for the last six years—is cast as Erwin—a timid and hen-pecked writer of greeting cards, who keeps to himself his weird gift of picking the winner in horse races.

Stocks Continue Upward Push on Wall St. Today

Canadian Press

New York, Jan. 7.—Stocks surged upward fractions to five or more points in today's market apparently on revived hopes of an early settlement of the General Motors strike.

It was one of the fastest sessions of the past several weeks, with frequent buying waves putting the ticker tape behind floor dealings. There was some selling in the final hour, but this was readily absorbed and the leaders were near their best at the close. Transfers were around 3,100,000 shares.

In addition to a little better outlook in the labor crisis, overnight study of the President's message to congress was said to have given some reassurance to the financial sector, although most thought it was a re-utterance of views already expressed by the administration.

Motor shares led from the start. They were quickly followed by the steels, rails, utilities and a wide assortment of specialties. Farm implements shot up four to five points or so on small turnovers.

Bonds emulated stocks in a lessor degree. Commodities including grains, developed strength. Wheat at Chicago was up 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents a bushel and corn was 1 to 1¾ higher.

Outstanding in the forward thrust were shares of Chrysler, General Motors, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, U.S. Pipe and Foundry, Vanadium, Republic and Great Northern.

GOLDS GAIN AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Issues in the gold group provided the buoyancy for the mining list on the Toronto exchange today. Weakness predominated in the higher priced issues and base metals.

Heavy traders at advancing prices included Francoeur, Castle, Darkwater and Pend Oreille.

O'Brien dropped about a point to eleven. Dome lost a point and the market was better for Pioneer, McIntyre and Little Long Lac.

Hudson Bay and Pend Oreille were strongest of the base metals. Ventures and Eldorado held steady. Oils were weak.

Improved Trend on Mainland Exchange

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—Generally improved tone appeared among stocks during morning dealings on the Vancouver exchange today, while trading volume tended to ease.

Nicola stepped into a feature position. Under a sudden wave of buying, the stock scored a morning turnover of better than 92,000 shares and closed with an advance of 1¼ cents at 13½.

Winnipeg Jan. 7.—Resumption of Europe's large-scale buying of wheat led to vigorous price advances in futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. The close was 2 to 1⅞ cents higher, May at $1.28⅝ and July $1.23½.

While trade reports told of a cargo of Argentine wheat being sold to Italy, approximately 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were sold for shipment abroad today. United Kingdom millers purchased the bulk of the grain.

Values pushed upward aggressively from the opening. Helpful to the advance was Germany's drastic tariff reductions on grains and 2¼ to 2⅜d gains at Liverpool, where a broader demand for wheat was reported.

Lack of offerings restricted sales in the cash grains section. Coarse grains prices moved up with wheat, May oats and May barley establishing new seasonal high prices.

Buoyancy of Winnipeg wheat quotations acted as a late stimulating influence. Many previous speculative sellers here hastily reversed their market position.

At the close, wheat was 1⅛ to 1⅞ above yesterday's finish, May $1.33½ to $1.33⅝, July $1.17⅛ to $1.17¼, corn 1 to 1¾ up, May, new, $1.10⅜ $1.10½, July, new, $1.06¼ to $1.06⅜, oats ⅝ to 1⅛ advanced, and provisions 12 to 20 cents higher.

GERMANY-ITALY SET TERMS FOR PACT ON SPAIN

be better to discontinue the committee method altogether.

POSITION STATED

"2. Germany must take exception to the fact that through the new demarche of the British and French Governments, the impression was created that Germany was to blame or to have falsely understood the problem of volunteers in the Spanish civil war.

"The German government therefore again points out it was she and the Italian government which from the very beginning urged prevention of the departure of volunteer participants in the Spanish fighting, and that it was, on the other hand, the British and French governments which rejected such an embargo.

"3. The preliminary attitude of the British and French governments of this question could only be understood in the sense that both governments saw in the influx of volunteers no illegitimate interference in Spanish affairs.

ITALY'S REPLY

Associated Press

Rome, Jan. 7.—Italy, agreeing "in principle" that foreign volunteers should be discouraged from enlisting in Spain, answered Franco-British demands for non-intervention today with reservations pointed at the French.

The Italian reply to the two-power plea for a stoppage of the flow of Italian and German volunteers to the Spanish civil war was handed by Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, to Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador, and J. F. Blondel, French charge d'affaires.

BORDER QUESTION

Informed sources said the three-page note, closely typed, agreed as a matter of principal to discouragement of the volunteer enlistments, yet raised a number of points and many reservations.

These were in particular based on the question of the Franco-Spanish border, over which most of the international volunteers fighting with Madrid have passed.

The note also contended Italy had brought up the volunteer question in August, but that France at that time did not see fit to accept her point of view.

Informed circles said both Italy and Germany had co-ordinated their replies. The Italian text was to be published at midnight.

CONSTRUCTIVE PROPOSALS

One reliable person asserted the Italian reply contained "constructive" proposals for liquidating international tension over Spain.

Asked if these prosposals consisted of an offer to withdraw Italian support of the Spanish insurgents if other nations would cease aiding one side or the other, this source replied:

"They are much more comprehensive than that. They embrace the whole field of non-intervention, including war materials and financial support, as well as volunteers."

FRENCH WARSHIPS

Paris, Jan 7.—Thirty-four French naval vessels, accompanied by a number of submarines, will be concentrated in Spanish waters by January 19 "in case they are needed in connection with the Spanish crisis," officials announced today.

The French Atlantic fleet, headed by the battleships Lorraine, Provence and Bretagne, will arrive off Casablanca, French Morocco, Saturday, they said.

By January 19, the naval concentration is expected to include Three battleships, one cruiser, twenty-three destroyers, four torpedo boats, the depot ship Jules Verne, and two transports.

An undetermined number of submarines will accompany the depot ship, naval officials declared.

Naval circles said the movement was part of southern manoeuvres made the first part of each year, but stressed the ships "would be in a strategic position if they are needed in connection with the Spanish crisis."

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 7.—Foreign Secretary Eden expounded the increasing gravity of the Spanish volunteer question in a frank talk tonight with Price Otto von Bismarck, the German charge d'affaires, here.

Anxiously awaiting the text of Italo-German replies to a plea to stop such volunteers, the Foreign Secretary closeted himself with the German envoy after an important conference with Prime Minister Baldwin.

Informed sources, according to the Associated Press, said the replies of the Fascist powers (Italy's was delivered late today in Rome) might have a vital effect on the peace of Europe.

Britain, with a warning eye on her Mediterranean fleet concentrating in Spanish waters, looked to Germany and Italy today for a "constructive" answer to demands for non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

Observers, according to the Associated Press, pointed out British men-of-war were moving toward Spain in sufficient numbers to enforce a blockade of the peninsula, should such action be decided upon. A Franco-British blockade was reported yesterday as having been discussed in Paris.

The Havas News Agency, however, quoted Foreign Office circles to the effect that the British attitude had been misinterpreted: that while Britain was not opposed to a blockade she considered it "unrealizable" at the present time.

MORE U.S. AUTO WORKERS IDLE

As he went from a meeting with General Motors leaders to confer with the "strategy board" of the United Automobile Workers of America, the governor said prospects of a settlement of differences blocking direct negotiations were "looking good."

Governor Murphy several times has talked with leaders of both the corporation and the union in attempts to break the strike deadlock which General Motors said today had thrown 51,803 of its wage earners in nineteen plants out of employment.

ALLIANCE AT FLINT

At Flint, Mich., where strikes in two Fisher Body plants have left approximately 15,000 idle, George E. Boysen, former mayor, announced organization of "the Flint Alliance" to combat strike sentiment.

TERMS PROPOSED

High executives of General Motors were known to have advanced three terms under which they would meet with officials of the union and federal labor conciliators. These were:

1. General Motors agrees not to try to operate the strike-bound plants during negotiations.

2. "Sit down" strikers must evacuate the plants before the negotiations open.

3. General Motors agrees to deal with the United Automobile Workers as representing its members employed by the corporation, but not as the sole bargaining agency representing all employees.

Tarzan And the Leopard Men

Bobolo and his warriors returned to the river, their minds full of plans to raid some down-stream village to acquire the food which the pygmies demanded for keeping Kali Bwana hidden for a few days. Eagerly they seized paddles and pushed out into the stream. . . .

At that moment Old Timer was busily propelling his large canoe through the turpid river. Tarzan had cautioned him to flee the country of the Leopard Men, but he was ignoring that warning. Instead, he was seeking some trace of Kali Bwana and her captors.

Old Timer's venture might easily prove suicidal, but his love for the beautiful girl outweighed all reason. The vision of her melancholy face shone before him like some brilliant light, blinding him to all hazards, illuminating a precious goal he might never reach.

But the light of his love sharpened his eyes for every clue to the missing Kali Bwana. Thus he caught sight of Bobolo and his villainous crew paddling out into the river. A minute later the black men saw him and shouted excitedly: "Get him! Get him!"

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I notice that a number of your women correspondents complain of their husbands' slovenly personal appearance and ask what they can do about it. Well here is a practical tip I hand them: The wife can take away her husband's soiled shirt at night, replacing it with a clean one with all the buttons on it. If she is a good budgeteer and does not spend all their income on her own clothes, she can get him an extra suit and keep it pressed and clean. Same way about buying him another pair of shoes which she can keep always shined and heeled. Women for ages fought for a fifty-fifty equality with men, but many a wife who helps spend her husband's income does very little toward earning it. A wife who is a real helpmate should be able to keep her husband looking neat without nagging. Incidentally it is possible that the man, knowing himself sartorially perfect, will automatically gain self-confidence and succeed better in his undertakings. A MAN.

Answer—I agree with you that a woman who is married to a sloven will save wear and tear on her nerves and temper by constituting herself his valet. There are two things that you cannot argue with. One is indolence and the other is the matter of refinement. If a man would rather wear a soiled shirt than go to the trouble of putting a button on a clean one, and if there is no inner urge in his soul toward cleanliness, there isn't any use in wasting words upon him.

All that such a man's wife can do is to be personally repulsed by his need of a bath, shave and a haircut and publicly humiliated by his looking like a scarecrow that she is ashamed to acknowledge belongs to her, or to take your suggestion and automatically prevent him from wearing the wrong things by providing him with what the well-dressed man is wearing.

I'll admit that having to lay out all of papa's clothes every day—and wash behind his ears, comb his hair, shine his shoes and see that he has a clean handkerchief is going to add considerably to the work of a woman who has already had to perform a like service for three or four children, but at any rate it will make papa a lot easier on her eyes and give him a better standing in the community.

Perhaps save his job for him, for slouches don't rate high with the beholders who rightly conclude that a man who is too lazy to polish his shoes and press his trousers wouldn't display much energy about any work that called for effort.

However, I hate to think of wives having to become valets in addition to being cooks, nurses, scrub women, laundresses, seamstresses, social secretaries, purchasing agents and whatnot as they already are.

For, unlike my correspondent, it is not my observation that the average married woman does little toward earning her board and keep and had just as well add keeping her husband clean to her repertory as not. All the wives of poor men and of men in moderate circumstances that I have known have worked twice as hard as their husbands. No thirty-hour weeks for them. No Saturday and Sunday holidays. And they didn't have time even to keep their own hair curled, to say nothing of fussing with hubby's.

But about one thing my correspondent is right. It does pep any man up, give him fresh courage and more self-confidence to be shaven and shorn and properly dressed. The man who looks like a down-and-outer is headed for the scrap pile.

• • • • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl of nineteen. I have been going with a boy for about five months with whom I am very much in love, but he has tired of me. He still comes to see me as often as he used to, but he has changed. I can see that he doesn't love me any more. He only calls me on the phone because I ask him to. Judging from the way he acts I can see that he wants to be rid of me, but is ashamed to do so and is waiting for me to make the break. Every time I ask him what is the matter all he says is, "Nothing." What should I do? BONNIE.

Answer—Break the affair off at once. The boy is giving you a chance to save your face. Take it. You've lost him anyway, so make the best of your bad bargain by giving him the air instead of waiting to be openly jilted.

No woman ever commits a greater folly than trying to hold on to the man who is tired of her and wants to be rid of her. It is a hopeless undertaking and only prolongs the agony, for sooner or later he will go anyway and the quicker and cleaner she makes the break the better for all concerned.

Why a man ceases to love the girl he has once been crazy about, he does not even know himself. It is nothing she did or left undone. It is just that he loses his taste for her. The little tricks and manners that he thought so cute pall upon him. Her chatter that he thought so fascinating bores him. Her caresses leave him cold. Once he thought her beautiful. Now she doesn't even look good to him. What he felt for her is all over. Done. Finished.

It is just one of those inexplicable changes of taste that we have all experienced—when the dishes of which we could once never get enough sicken us, when the amusements we were once so keen about lose all of their thrill and the people whose society we used to enjoy become tedious beyond all bearing.

Nothing is so dead as a dead love. Bury it and forget it. Beat the boy who is tired of you to the parting of the ways and be comforted by the fact that at nineteen broken hearts heal without even leaving a scar.

The Story of China

IV—THE CHOWS AND THE GRAND CANAL

A little more than 3,000 years ago, the people of China rose in revolt against a king who was ruling in a wrongful way. A battle took place, and the royal army was defeated. Then the king set fire to his palace, and climbed to a tower from which he could look down on the burning wood. A few minutes later, he leapt into the flames.

The event marked the end of the Shang dynasty, or line of kings. The leader of the rebels took the place of the dead ruler, and came to be known as King Wu. He started the famous Chow dynasty, which included many kings and which lasted 866 years.

During the time of the Chow dynasty, the borders of China spread far beyond the Yellow River valley. The kingdom grew until it covered most of what we now call "China Proper." We are told that it contained 1,800 cities and villages.

During the Chow period, the farmers raised crops of rice and millet, and also had vegetable gardens and fruit orchards. Many kept livestock, chiefly swine, cattle and sheep.

In the homes of the people, there were beds but no chairs or tables. The floors (often made of tiles) were covered with mats. Sometimes the mats were made of reeds, but in other cases they were woven from dry grass or from bamboo splints, and were covered with cloth around the edges. When eating a meal, the Chinese sat on a mat and took food from trays placed nearby. The dishes were of clay, wood and bronze.

The art of silk-making was well known in Chna even during that early time. After the silk worms did their work, the thread was woven into cloth. The art of making linen from flax was also known. Some persons wore fur coats, made from the skins of foxes, or bears. Ivory combs were used, and jewelry was made from gold and precious stones.

Some historians state that the famous Grand Canal was started while one of the Chow kings was on the throne. They say a trench 130 miles long was dug to connect the city of Chinkiang with a river.

In later centuries, and while other lines of kings held the throne, much work was done to make the canal longer. During the reign of Kublai Kahn, about 650 miles were added, and the canal was made to join a river which flowed through Peking, northern capital city.

The commerce along the Grand Canal has been great beyond measure. It is safe to say that hundreds of thousands of boats have been used on it. From time to time, it has been choked with mud, becoming so shallow that it was of little use until work was done to deepen it. During recent times it has not been so important as in the past, because a railway has covered almost the same route, but it still is a great monument to the labors of the Chinese. It has been compared to the Great Wall of China as an "olden wonder."

Some historians believe the beginning of the Grand Canal dates back only a little more than 1,300 years, to the Sui dynasty instead of to the Chows.

Port Alberni Jumps In Lumber Exports

Island Port Is Now Second In British Columbia In Shipments of Lumber; United Kingdom Is Best Customer

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, Jan. 7.—With a gain of nearly 100,000,000 board feet over the 1935 total, Port Alberni more than maintained during 1936 its position as second largest lumber exporting centre in British Columbia. Vancouver is first and New Westminster third.

Statistics released yesterday reveal that during the year just closed 213 deepsea vessels tied up at the local wharves and loaded 283,000,000 board feet of lumber for export to the various ports of the world. In addition close to 1,000,000 feet of logs, a quantity of piling, hog fuel, wood chips and salt salmon were also exported. These figures are in contrast to 1935 when 167 vessels loaded 187,000,000 board feet, or to 1934 when 151 freighters stowed 135,000,000 board feet.

The following figures reveal the growth of the lumber export trade here:

Year	Board Feet
1926	54,000,000
1927	73,000,000
1928	75,000,000
1929	89,000,000
1930	83,000,000
1932	70,500,000
1933	104,500,000
1934	135,000,000
1935	187,000,000
1936	283,000,000

The United Kingdom continues to be Port Alberni's best customer, taking 132,000,000 of the 1936 total; Australia was next with 46,000,000 and China third with 40,000,000—all three showing a marked increase over the 1935 totals. The United States, with 18,000,000 to the Atlantic Coast and 5,000,000 to California, was not the big customer it was expected she would be under the new trade agreements; she purchased almost as much lumber from Port Alberni during 1935, before the agreements went into effect. Japan's 11,000,000 feet is encouraging but is still far short of what that country used to purchase. Another 11,000,000 board feet went to South Africa, and smaller shipments of from two to seven million feet to Portugese East Africa, Eastern Canada and Newfoundland, South America, Belgium, Fiji and New Zealand.

About 2,000 men were given steady employment by the lumbering industry here during the year, in the sawmills, in the woods and in longshore work on the waterfront.

Montreal Port Had Busy Year

Eastern Metropolis Handled Its Greatest Dock Business Since 1928

Canadian Press

Montreal, Jan. 7.—The Port of Montreal in 1936 had its greatest season in ocean shipping since 1928, according to figures made public yesterday by Capt. Robert C. Brown, Port Warden.

An increase of 552,369 tons over 1935 was marked up in net tonnage of ships entering port from overseas, the lower St. Lawrence River and Gulf ports. The number of ships increased by 149, and gains were indicated in twenty-one of thirty-one outward cargo items.

Greatest cargo increase was in wheat. A total of 57,528,649 bushels were cleared, a gain of 29,528,649 over the 1935 figures. The grain shipments were reflected in a greater number of tramp steamers leaving the port fully loaded. The tramps increased from fifty-three to 201.

From overseas, 1,133 vessels of an aggregate tonnage of 4,403,508 entered port, increases of 116 ships and 444,485 tons. Vessels from Gulf and lower river ports totaled 415 or 854,245 tons, a rise of thirty-three vessels and 107,884 tons.

Inbound cargoes showed gains in general and bulk cargoes decreased slightly in total, though coal shipments from Canadian points increased by six.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

U.K. BEST CUSTOMER

Portland, Ore., Jan. 7 (Associated Press).—The United Kingdom, purchasing water-born cargo valued at $3,756,766, was Portland's best customer last year, the Merchants' Exchange said yesterday. Exports to the United Kingdom totaled $430,321. Japan was the next best customer, closely followed by the Philippines. The Islands led in the value of produce sent here.

CRIPPLED SHIP FOUGHT STORM

Tanker Albertolite Reaches Esquimalt Harbor After West Coast Battle

With her steering gear crippled the oil tanker Albertolite rode out Monday's fierce storm hove to off Solander Island, west coast of Vancouver Island and later headed through big seas to Victoria, reaching Esquimalt harbor yesterday afternoon.

The big tanker, one of the busiest in coast trade, left Port Alice Monday morning and ran into the teeth of one of the winter's worst gales. Her steering gear broke down and members of her crew were forced to steer by hand the 200 miles to Victoria.

The captain refused all offers of aid, depending on the stoutness of his ship and the reliability of his crew to get the ship through safely.

Damage to the steering apparatus was extensive and it will take Yarrow's Limited a week or ten days to repair the ship. She is tied up at the wharf alongside the Dominion Government's drydock in Esquimalt harbor.

Word was received today the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia would reach William Head at 10 o'clock Saturday morning from the Orient on her way into Victoria.

Saturday afternoon the flagship Empress of Japan will sail from Victoria for Honolulu and the Orient with close to 1,000 passengers.

The Furness motorship Pacific Pioneer will arrive here Saturday morning from the United Kingdom.

The Japanese freighter Heiyei Maru left Rithet piers late yesterday afternoon for Crofton after discharging cargo here. The British freighter King Malcolm will get away to Vancouver this evening. She has been taking island lumber for the British Isles.

Bottle Drifts To Irish Coast

But "Millionaires" Are Unable to Pay Irish Finder For His Information

Associated Press

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 7.—Three "millionaires" who cast a bottle on the Atlantic four days out of Galway, Ireland, last July, offering a substantial reward to the finder, today were asked to make good.

Michael Cribben, one of the three, received a letter from Martin McDonagh, Horn Roundstone, County Galway, Ireland, informing him he had picked up the bottle on the west coast of Connemara, December 15.

"I am writing for the substantial reward you and the other two millionaire gentlemen offered the finder," the letter said.

Cribben said since neither he nor Bartley Mulhern of Portland, Me., nor Frank Halloran of New York, who sponsored the prank with him, were millionaires they could not fulfill their promise. But, he added, he would write to them and decide upon a joint gift to McDonagh.

The bottle, Cribben said, traveled 1,600 miles.

PIRACY ACT IS RECALLED

Man Returns to Tiny Caribbean Island and Is Arrested by Authorities

Canadian Press

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 7.—The law reached back through fourteen years today to hold Gideon Ebank and stir up an old story of piracy and murder at sea that shocked the Caribbean people of another decade.

Long sought as a suspect in an prising that took five lives, Ebank was seized when he came back to Grand Cayman Island, the tiny Caribbean upthrust where the plot came to light in 1922 after the schooner Juana Mercedes' mutinous voyage from nearby Cuba.

Ebank and two others—Antonio Rivers and Pablo Kouing—sailed the Mercedes into Georgetown Cayman, one fr'l day in 1922, telling the people the ship's papers had been lost in a storm. But after a few drinks had loosened their tongues, the trio began to speak vaguely of murder on the Juana Mercedes.

LEFT BY BOAT

Before investigation could be completed, Rivers, who claimed to be the ship's captain, had left with Kouing for Spanish Honduras. Ebank had sailed for Tampa, Florida, by the time Cuban authorities came here in response to slow-travelling messages by boat.

Then the story came out. The Mercedes had sailed October 22 from Cienfuegos, Cuba, under Capt. Juan Batiste and with three crew members and three passengers. Ebank, not on the ship's papers, apparently was a stowaway. Rivers and Kouing were in the crew.

When the ship reached Cayman, the captain was missing; so were Angel Perez, the third crew member, and passenger Cristobal Gual with his two children. They were never found.

Rivers was caught later, tried and convicted in Cuba of piracy, murder and theft. Evidence at his trial indicated mutiny immediately after leaving Cienfuegos and the prompt killing of the captan and two other men.

Next day, when the ship sighted Caymen, the two children were flung or forced to jump into the sea.

Ebank went back to Cayman from Nicaragua last December 26, and he was immediately arrested and held for Cuban authorities. Word as to whether police of Cuba still want the piracy suspect was still awaited.

Limerick Seamen Sail by Aorangi

Associated Press

Honolulu, Jan. 7.—Amid cheers of a large group of American maritime strikers, thirty-one men who quit the crew of the steamer Limerick here December 26 sailed for New Zealand yesterday as passengers on the Ms. Aorangi.

RELICS WILL BE PRESERVED

Canada's Part in Development of Aviation Will Be Kept for the Future

Associated Press

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Relics of the earliest developments in Canadian aviation are now being preserved, the whole story of Canada's part in the progress of flying being told in a collection in process of assembly at the newly-establishd Aeronautical Museum housed in the building of the National Research Council here.

Acquisition of the various exhibits has occupied Major-General A. G. L. MacNaughton, chairman of the National Research Council, for some time.

Most important is the engine of the Silver Dart, which made the first successful flight in the British Empire. This plane was built by the late Dr Alexander Graham Bell at Baddeck N.S., and flown in February, 1909, by J. A. C. McCurdy. Associated with McCurdy was F. W. (Casey) Baldwin, pioneer aviator, yachtsman and member of the Nova Scotia Legislature.

First flight by the Silver Dart was half a mile, on February 23, 1909. Next day, at thirty feet, four and half miles was covered over the Bras D'Or Lakes. On March 10 all previous records were shattered when the Silver Dart flew twenty miles. Five months later the machine was cracked up, landing at Petawawa Camp when Baldwin was demonstrating it to military authorities.

Other exhibits in the new National Museum include the model propellers carved by Dr. Graham Bell while studying aerial methods of propulsion.

The war-time "crate" flown by the late Col. W. A. Barker, V.C., one of the Canadian aces of the Royal Flying Corps, is in the collection. The wings and fuselage are riddled with bullet holes, all of which have been carefully patched, but which are nevertheless noticeable.

Dutch Crew of Ms. Delftdyk In Victoria On Wedding Day of Their Future Queen

The Delftdyk arrived here early yesterday evening from Rotterdam and London and proceeded to Vancouver this afternoon.

Her officers sat up late in an effort to "tune in" on the wedding celebrations in Holland's capital, but were not very successful.

LIKE THEIR PRINCESS

Juliana's wedding was the main topic of conversation on the Delftdyk this morning. Officers agreed the wedding was not politically arranged and hoped their future queen and her consort would be very happy. They said Juliana was a happy, smiling princess and was tremendously popular throughout the country, keeping up the traditions of Holland's royal family in this regard.

A number of Dutch people, resident in Victoria called on the Delftdyk during the morning to drink a toast to the royal newlyweds on a "little bit of Holland" 6,000 miles away from their native land.

Capt. J. M. Stamperius, master of the ship and his senior officers received, assisted by A. P. Moffat, local agent for the Holland-America Line, and George Paulin, his assistant.

Callers during the morning were Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at the Esquimalt Naval Base, and Mrs. Beard.

The Delftdyk called at Los Angeles harbor on her way from Europe, but omitted her usual visit to San Francisco, because of the strike. Her passengers from Europe disembarked at the southern California port.
